

IF ON PEAK HEMMING HEADS IN SIGH OF EL PASO BANK SUMMIT

W. S. JACKSON AS PRESIDENT

Latter Resigns on Account of Ill Health, After 38 Years in Business

C. C. Hemming, for 10 years vice-president of the El Paso National bank, has been elected president of that institution, succeeding William S. Jackson, who has resigned on account of ill health. Mr. Hemming has been the active manager of the bank since he bought the controlling interest from Mr. Jackson in 1900.

M. D. Thatcher, president of the First National bank of Pueblo, and also actively connected with banks throughout the state, has bought a large block of stock in the local institution. He is not a member of the board of directors, which is made up exclusively of Colorado Springs men. B. F. Edwards, president of the National Bank of Commerce, is another large stockholder.

Within half a mile of their goal—the summit of the Peak, which they aspired to conquer on foot—Mr. and Mrs. William A. Skinner, each aged 50 years, of Dallas, Tex., were overcome by cold and exhaustion, and were frozen to death.

Their bodies, half buried under a foot of snow, were found close to the road track on Pikes Peak about 11 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Z. C. Baker, 217 South Weber street, who was walking down from the mountain. Manager C. W. Sells of the Cog Railroad ordered out a special train, and Sheriff Jackson and Deputy Sheriff Hampton brought the bodies to Colorado Springs early last evening.

Mr. Skinner, who is 21 years old, was alone when he saw a pair of Mrs. Skinner's cotton skirt fluttering in the breeze. He looked closer and was able to distinguish the body of a man and woman lying side by side and almost covered with snow. He hurried on down the road, and half a mile below the summit, he saw the bodies of the two young men from Denver, who were walking to the summit. Croix 1 of finding the bodies, and asked the officials as soon as they reached the top of the mountain. He later learned that he was so confused when he saw the bodies that he did not know how to return and notify the Cog Railroad of the discovery.

Special Train Reaches Scene.

A special train sent out by Manager Sells reached the spot where the bodies lay a little before 6 o'clock last night. The bodies of the two young men, who were walking to the summit, were found by Z. C. Baker, 217 South Weber street, who was walking down from the mountain. Manager C. W. Sells of the Cog Railroad ordered out a special train, and Sheriff Jackson and Deputy Sheriff Hampton brought the bodies to Colorado Springs early last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Skinner were evidently used to the sudden changes in mountain climate and were thinly attired. They wore outer wraps of any kind, but both had straw hats. The woman's dress was of the thinnest material, and her undergarments, Skinner's was of black alpaca, a garment which is warm. Both were wearing vest and a thin calico shirt.

That many a truth is spoken in jest is illustrated in Skinner's death. In his pocket was found a letter from J. C. Choice, dated Dallas, August 17, and in which the writer said that he was dining an overcoat in accordance with Skinner's request.

Death Predicted in Jest.

I hope you are having the time of your life in Colorado," Choice wrote, and that you will not freeze to death on Pikes Peak.

Skinner and his wife were seen by a man employed along the Cog road at points along the trail Monday afternoon. Skinner was apparently affected by the effort of walking up the mountain, and on several occasions he was seen to stop and rest.

S. Government May Block Bringing of Water to East Slope

DENVER, Aug. 22.—The United States government has offered several suggestions to the citizens in a suit filed at Sulphur Springs, Colo., to keep the waters of the Arkansas river on the western watershed and prevent the projects of several irrigation companies to bring the waters of the Continental divide, and lead them on northern and eastern Colorado lands. The government will not notice of the rights it claims in the waters of the Grand river.

SPANISH WAR VETS ARE OPPOSED TO THE CANTEEN

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 22.—The United Spanish War Veterans, at their annual encampment here today, went on record as opposed to the re-establishment of the army canteen, and adopted resolutions for the establishment of a veterans' soldiers' home at Fort Walla, Walla, Wash.

Another resolution adopted calls for the retirement of soldiers of the regular army after 25 years of service. Congress is also asked to place widows of Spanish war veterans on an equal footing with widows of Civil war veterans in regard to pensions.

An informal vote showed the encampment in favor of holding the 1912 convention in San Francisco.

Though few candidates have presented themselves for office in the ladies auxiliary, Mrs. J. A. Record of Denver is regarded as an active candidate for president general.

Exceptional photograph of Harry N. Atwood in his Burgess-Wright biplane alighting at the Chicago aviation field after his remarkable flight from St. Louis, in which he exceeded the speed of the fastest express train. In the background can be seen the sheds in which the aeroplanes at the international meet were stored overnight, and several of the machines outside ready for flights. Further still are seen some of the largest buildings of the western metropolis. Atwood is now nearing the last leg of his trip on which he expects to reach New York and Boston.

INVESTIGATION WAS NOT MADE TAFT'S REASON FOR VETO OF COTTON BILL

Noisy Demonstrations Greet Executive's Last Message of Session

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—President Taft's message vetoing the cotton bill was read in the house at 2:02 p. m. As in the case of the wool and free list bills, the president based his objection to the cotton bill largely on the fact that the tariff board had not yet had time to submit a report on the schedule. He also declared that the cotton bill was adopted without any investigation or information of a satisfactory character into the cotton industry.

The president objected especially to the attempt by Congress to add a revision of the iron and steel and chemical schedules to the cotton bill as amendments.

"I find," he said, "that there was practically no consideration of either schedule by either committee of either house. There were no facts presented to either house on which I can find material to form any judgment as to the effect of the amendments either on American industries or upon the revenues of the government."

Briefly reviewing the manner in which the iron and steel and chemical amendments were added to the bill, the president said:

Must Try to Be Fair.

"I cannot make myself a party to dealing with the industries of the country in this way. The industries covered by the amendments are the manufacture of metals and the manufacture of chemicals. These are the largest in the country, and it would seem not only wise but absolutely essential to acquire accurate information as to the effect of changes which may vitally affect these industries before enacting them into law."

The bill would not have gone into effect until January 1 next, and Mr. Taft said the tariff board would be ready with a report before that time.

"I am pledged to support a policy of moderate protection," he added. "I cannot approve a measure which violates its principle."

The president denounced the bill as "empirical and haphazard."

"This," he declared, "was especially true of the chemical schedule, which had been revised in such a way as to increase the tax on certain chemicals instead of reducing them."

"These," said the president, "are some of the typical inconsistencies and instances of haste in preparation and of the error of calculation in the proposed sweeping horizontal reduction of a most important schedule in the tariff."

Noisy Demonstration.

The veto was received with a noisy demonstration. There were scarcely a hundred members in the chamber when its reading was begun.

Republicans applauded and Democrats laughed, the latter demonstrating coming over the president's statement that the cotton schedule had been revised without proper investigation.

POPE PIUS IS NOW QUITE CONVALESCENT

ROME, Aug. 22.—It may now be said that Pope Pius is entirely convalescent. Doctors Marchisava and Peracchi have ceased their visits to the pontiff, but have recommended that he take the greatest care of his health and avoid fatigue.

The pope is extremely cheerful. Today he walked in the Vatican gardens for a short time, and seemed benefited. While in the gardens he met Father Presicchio, the Vatican chamberlain, who was asked about the recent heavy labor in compounding medicines for him.

LIGHTING PLAN DECIDED UPON BRILLIANT DECORATIVE SCHEME FOR CITY

Contract Let for Complete Permanent Equipment to N. Y. Electric Co.

Plans were completed yesterday when the Colorado Springs will have a decorative street illumination in the downtown district equal to that of any other city of its size in the country.

The splendid lighting committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce met this afternoon to take up the matter of decorative street lighting. It awarded the contract to the New York Electric company for a complete permanent equipment for decorative lighting. The city ratified its end of the deal, which by the Chamber of Commerce and the city will be to pay one-half the cost of the equipment, and the city is to pay for the current, which the Colorado Springs Light, Heat and Power company will furnish at an extremely low price.

The equipment will consist of 45 streamers to be placed across Fifth street between Main and Tenth streets, and six streamers to be strung across Fifth street between Tenth and Twelfth streets, in addition to four streamers, one each for the corners at the intersection of Pikes Peak and Tenth streets, and one for the corner at the intersection of Pikes Peak and Twelfth streets. The lights on the streamers will be 18 inches apart, and the streamers will be the same distance apart. The lights on the streamers and the streamers will be red, white and blue.

To Be Bought Outright.

The equipment will be bought outright, and will be the property of the Chamber of Commerce. The contract provides that it be installed within two weeks and it will be in place by noon. The lights will be on at least one hour after the city council meets in October from 7:30 until midnight every night. They will also be on each summer. The entire equipment can be installed in one day, so that the advantage of having a complete decorative lighting effect at short notice is thus obtained.

These lights, together with the planar system of arcs which will be put in after the street paving is completed, will make Colorado Springs a decorative city, and one of which its residents may well be proud. These are lights, it is planned, will be clustered around ornamental iron poles on the edge of the sidewalk, the poles to be about 8 feet apart.

Charles T. Wilder, chairman, E. W. Giddings and W. S. Dunning composed the special lighting committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Grocers and Butchers Form Organization to Weed Out Dead Beasts

Most across the city of the "dead beasts." In the petition of an organization, the retail grocers and butchers of Colorado Springs think that they have them, and the result is the organization is known as the El Paso County Retail Grocers and Butchers Association. Papers of incorporation will be filed with the secretary of state this week. From the board of directors, consisting of O. W. Ward, Wilbur, Chick, S. C. Smith, George P. Rost, M. M. Day, A. N. Melton and John Ferguson, a president will be selected. Mr. Melton is the secretary.

Thirty-five grocers and butchers of El Paso county, chiefly of Colorado Springs, have joined the association. The officers plan to push an advertising campaign until they have every grocer and butcher in the county in the association.

"Our first work," Mr. Melton said yesterday, "will be to start after the dead beasts. There are a number of individuals who make a habit of establishing a credit at a grocery store. When the bill falls due they begin patronizing another grocery store. Thus they make the whole round, and not a cent is collected."

After "Dead Beasts."

"It is just such men that we are after. We intend to see that they are chased out of the county. Every week we will furnish a list to the members of the association telling of the standing of each customer. These lists will be obtainable through the association and issued to members only. Once a person's reputation is established as a 'dead beast' he is placed on the black list. We are going to use this method as a safeguard to the grocers and butchers, and not as a system to 'rough' anybody."

After the local association is firmly established, members plan to affiliate with the retail associations of other cities in the state. Then, if a dishonest customer moves from one place to another, a "black list" sheet will follow him, warning the grocers and butchers of his standing.

Members of the newly-organized association announced that they will close their places of business at 11 o'clock Labor day, Monday, September 4.

Next Year. Mr. Melton said in conclusion, "we will try to arrange for the first of a series of annual picnics. We have other things in sight that are of importance to the members of the trade."

A HAPPY MOOD MARKS END SESSION

Congressmen Felicitate One

Until December 4

PRESIDENT OFF FOR A RE-SESSION

Many Minor Measures Rushed Through at End—Cotton Bill Veto Pigeonholed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The extraordinary session of the sixty-second congress, marked by the passage of the Canadian reciprocity bill, vetoed tariff revision legislation and other important measures, adjourned sine die at 3:02 o'clock this afternoon.

President Taft, who had just vetoed the cotton bill, the last of the three revision bills adversely voted on, was present with members of his cabinet. Dashing officers of both houses of congress delivered short speeches, congratulating the members, regardless of party, upon the good will shown during the session and expressing best wishes for them during the recess of congress.

The regular session of congress will begin on December 4.

President Taft joined with the several hundred tired legislators in leaving Washington, and tonight official Washington, comparatively, was deserted.

Every outgoing train bore senators and representatives homeward-bound after an extraordinary session that stretched over 121 days and set the liveliest pace of any executive session in years.

The adjournment was featureless despite the strenuous activity that had gone before. The president vetoed the cotton tariff revision bill just as he had vetoed its predecessors, the wool and the free list bills. The veto went only to the house, in accordance with custom, and there its reception was marked by Democratic laughter and Republican applause.

Underwood Thanks Insurgents.

Democratic Leader Underwood, amid a demonstration, formally thanked the few Republican members who voted with the Democrats to pass the tariff revision bills. Democrats can assure the voters to shake hands with the insurrectionists. The cheering and pounding of desks on the Democratic side was prolonged.

As soon as he could be heard Mr. Underwood announced that as the Democrats did not have the two-thirds majority necessary to pass the bill over the veto he would merely move the printing of the veto and accompanying papers and their reference to the ways and means committee, of which he was the chairman. The house agreed to this fixed course, with the committee on the matter will rest until the whole subject of tariff revision is renewed at the regular session of congress in December.

Everybody was in a happy mood in both houses, but the usual vaudeville precedents that feature the few minutes following the adjournment of the house were missing. The nearest approach was the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" by a group of younger members, but their chords did not inspire a ringing chorus. The galleries in both the house and the senate were crowded.

President at Capitol.

President Taft spent half an hour at the capitol, making it a social affair as well as a business one. Occupying the president's room, in the rear of the senate chamber, he was greeted and cheered by senators of all shades of political complexion, as well as by representatives who drifted over from the house to meet him. Vice President Sherman was one of the first to shake hands.

The president later busied himself with the task of signing the eleventh-hour measures, approving all that were presented.

The senate spent a restless day, within 35 minutes after it had convened it took a recess until 2 o'clock to await the action of the house on the belated veto of the cotton bill.

FRANCE IS FIRM WITH GERMANY

PARIS, Aug. 22.—A cautious and firm semi-official note was issued by the government this afternoon relative to the negotiations with Germany and saying:

"Ambassador Cambon will return to Berlin toward the end of August probably about the 28th. Meantime he will have in Paris several conferences with the premier, minister of foreign affairs and minister of colonies concerning the subjects of his conversations with Herr Waehter, the German minister of foreign affairs."

"It is believed that the difficulties will find a solution. It is, however, true that the rights of France in Morocco be recognized without diminution on the part of Germany and required definitely in a manner to avoid all future complications, and second, that Germany reduce her commercial duties on French goods which appear excessive."

GOVERNOR DIX CALLS G. A. R. MEN IMMORTAL

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 22.—With more than 23,000 veterans registered before the close of the second day, the forty-fifth annual national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic is under full headway, and veterans who have attended national encampments for years say the indications are that some recent attendance records will be broken.

Convention hall was too small to seat all who desired to hear Governor Dix speak tonight. Officers who made addresses were Mayor Edgerton, Commander John E. Gilman and State Commander George B. Sout.

Tomorrow will be the big day of the encampment, with the coming of President Taft and the parade that will follow.

In his address to the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, Governor Dix dwelt on the sacrifice and the heroism of his hearers and extolled Lincoln and Grant for their magnanimity and loyalty. Continuing he said:

"You soldiers of a half century ago would say each to the other: 'Why, comrade, I did only the natural thing.' We of today, with respectful, reverent appreciation say to you, the survivors of the saviors of our nation, that you did the heroic thing—unmatched in the past, and to our finite vision, impossible of excellence in the future."

"Let us not forget, that upon this same altar of sacrifice were placed the hopes of many firesides; the aching hearts of loyal women who gave to a sacred cause their all. To them and their love of country as well as to those on the field we owe the priceless homage of union and peace."

"When Grant and Lincoln met on that fatal last day, of Lincoln's life there came together in the presence of the patient, imaginative Lincoln and the practical, silent Grant the representatives at that time and for all time of American prestige and possibilities. Different in physique, in personality and in mental process, both were yet alike in exhaustless faith and unquenchable magnanimity."

"As the thinning ranks of your immortal legions pass, with the valor of old, down the years to come, I would leave with you the thought that the American idea sheds luster throughout civilization for irresistible progress in war and unparalleled magnanimity in peace."

"And for this heritage, millions yet unborn will bless you."

MUSSER ADMITS 12 MINERS TO BAIL

DENVER, Aug. 22.—Twelve of the 14 striking miners of the northern Colorado coal fields, who were sent to jail by Judge Greeley Whitford, several months ago for contempt of court, were admitted to bail today by Justice George W. Musser, of the supreme court. The latter ordered a stay of execution on Judge Whitford's sentence until the entire supreme court should have passed upon the application for a writ of habeas corpus for all of the imprisoned men, which will be presented to the full court in a few weeks.

Attorneys for the prisoners and the coal operators agreed that such an order might be issued provided it should not apply to William Crawford, secretary of the miners' organization, and Edward Doyle, who wrote articles bitterly assailing Judge Whitford.

Doyle and Crawford will probably be compelled to remain in jail until the entire supreme court shall have passed upon their appeal. If the application for habeas corpus should be granted, the men would be permitted to return to jail.

trial railroad, making Oneida, at a speed of 21 miles in 33 minutes. It was almost dark when Atwood neared Fort Plain. He hovered a while over the town and then, selecting a clear spot on the opposite bank of the Mohawk river, alighted, to the astonishment of a farmer, a half-dozen angry dogs and a barefoot boy.

"It's been a lazy run all the way," Atwood said. "Anybody could do it. I experimented and it could be run in straight-ahead sailing. I am sure the problem would be solved quickly and safely settled. The people who look from the ground in amazement at seeing me at a dizzy height would be surprised at the simplicity of it. I sometimes fix my planes at right angles and sail along without touching them for 10 minutes at a stretch, and then lean back in my seat to figure out my location from the time table, or to eat my luncheon."

MRS. HARRIMAN GIVES $5,000 FOR LABORATORY

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—Mrs. E. H. Harriman, widow of the railroad magnate, has given $5,000 to Dr. F. K. Atwood, chief surgeon of the Southern Pacific system, for the establishment and endowment of a bacteriological and pathological laboratory for the benefit of the employees of the company. This announcement was made today by Dr. Atwood, who said the laboratory would be located in San Francisco. Negotiations are now on to secure an expert from the Rockefeller Institute of New York to take charge. Mrs. Harriman's contribution is the second received within a year for the laboratory. Here since Mrs. C. P. Huntington gave $25,000 for a special hall on the grounds, which is now being completed.

Then came an executive session to consider two minor nominations and another recess, until 2:45 o'clock. Senators gathered in the aisles of the senate chamber during this recess and exchanged parting greetings. Progressives and regulars, Republicans and Democrats, mingled their hearty good wishes.

Confusion in House.

In the house there was the same confusion, only more pronounced. Mr. Underwood of Alabama, Democratic leader, shared with Speaker Clark congratulations over the party's achievements in the first Democratic house in 16 years. Republican Leader Mann and others beamed with good will.

The last measure introduced in the house was a resolution backing back to King Louis XVI. It provided for the erection of a tablet in the rotunda of the Capitol in Washington in commemoration of King Louis' intervention in behalf of this country. The resolution, like a host of others, went over to the regular session.

Senator Owen of Oklahoma precipitated the fastest legislative work of the closing hours. He asked for the passage of a bill authorizing Rodman Wanamaker and others to construct in the entrance to New York harbor a permanent memorial to the North American Indian. The bill had passed the house, but the senate clerks, anticipating no action on it, had carried it away to the vaults. With less than 10 minutes remaining, a hurried search was made. The bill was found and sent back to the house by a messenger, who lost no time on the journey.

One Bill Shut Out

Just at 5 o'clock, officially, or 3:02 by actual time, the session of the senate was in the midst of its farewell remarks to the senate, the clerk of the house appeared in the door of the senate with the completed bill, signed by Speaker Clark. The signaling of the clerks and the fluttering of the completed bill at the head of the aisle did not stop the fall of the gavel, however, and the bill will rest unsigned by the vice president and the president until next December.

In the closing hours of the session of the house, Representative Kinkaid of New Jersey, amid Democratic applause, made a speech advocating Philippine independence, and predicting that a Democratic congress soon would carry out the promises of the United States to the islands.

Just as Mr. Kinkaid concluded at 2:37 o'clock, with but three minutes to go, Speaker Clark leaned toward the clerk's table and remarked in an undertone:

Hurriedly Sign Bills.

"If you've got any bills down there to be signed, you had better be hustling them up here."

The speaker hastily signed several more measures. Both Vice President Sherman and Speaker Clark delivered good-bye addresses, expressing appreciation, extending congratulations on the good will shown in a strenuous session, and bespeaking health and happiness during the recess. Officially at 3 o'clock, but actually two minutes later, the extra session of congress was declared adjourned.

The session record of measures introduced is 14,038 bills and 484 resolutions in the house and 3,298 bills and 58 resolutions in the senate. Only a few of these were passed. The senate adjourned without filing the office of president pro tempore.

WANTS GOVERNMENT TO GO SLOW WITH TREATIES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Declaring that ratification of the arbitration treaties with England and France, as submitted by President Taft to the senate, will pave the way for a similar convention with Japan and thereby remove the Pacific coast with its labor, Representative Hamilton of New Jersey spoke during the closing hours of today's final session of the house.

He urged that the treaties be not concluded with unreasonable haste. He said that British Ambassador Bryce, and the President Taft, was the father of the treaties.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 22.—That Francisco Madro will not be influenced by the laws of reform to such an extent as to hamper the freedom of the church, was stated today by Archbishop Moray del Rio, explaining the support given to Madro's candidacy for the presidency by the Catholic party.

Madro was endorsed at the recent convention of the party. Because of Madro's Masonic affiliations, the action of the convention has caused considerable criticism. This brought forth the declaration of the archbishop.

BINFORD GIRL NEVER WANTS TO SEE BEATTIE

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 22.—If Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., is acquitted of the charge of wife-murder pending against him, there will be no further friendship between him and Beulah Binford, the girl, for whose love the prosecution charged the crime was committed.

Sitting in her cell on the eve of the resumption of the case at Chesterfield county court house tomorrow, Beulah Binford not only expressed the hope that Beattie is guilty, will be convicted, but also stated that she was afraid of Beattie, and could never be his friend again. It was the frankest statement she has made since her arrest as a material witness, more than a month ago.

"I hope that Henry is innocent," said Beattie, "but I would have gone through fire at his word, but now I would be afraid to go for the street with him after dark. If he comes near the murder charge, I hope never to see him again. Most of all, I want to get away from Richmond, where I know people will not follow me on the streets. I know, absolutely, nothing about the murder. I do not even recall that Henry ever mentioned his wife's name to me."

Beattie spent a quiet day in jail. He will be taken to Chesterfield tomorrow, and the task of completing the jury will be taken up again at noon.

Sheriff Gill has summoned a venire of 20 men, and the prediction is that the jury will be completed tomorrow. The Commonwealth has completed its list of witnesses, which now totals more than 75.

VIOLENT ANTI-JEWISH OUTBREAKS IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Violent outbreaks against Jews have now occurred for three successive days in Monmouthshire and are giving the authorities great concern, as they are altogether a new phase in British life.

The Jewish community has made strong representations to the home office and Home Secretary, Churchill, for day assured them that no precautions should be overlooked to prevent a recurrence of the disorders.

The riots and looting of Jewish shops were of a desperate character and the military was called out before the mobs were cowed. Additional soldiers were sent to Ebbwastone from Cardiff today, but similar scenes to those enacted last night, when Jewish shops were attacked, occurred again tonight in Ebbwastone, Rhymney and Bryn Mawr.

The presence of the troops prevented looting on such a large scale as on Monday night, but the police and military had to be continually chasing the rioters with batons and swords. In these charges many persons were injured and a large number were arrested. The rioters attacked women and drove them shrieking from their homes.

The only motive for the outbreak is charged against the Jews are guilty of charging huge rents to workmen and raising the prices of provisions since the recent strike began.

DR. PEARSONS MAKES HIS LAST DONATION

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Dr. D. K. Pearsons, philanthropist, who has distributed a fortune of $7,000,000 in benefices, today made his last gift. He gave the town of Hinsdale, a suburb, his residence and five acres of ground, valued at $25,000, for library purposes. With the bestowal of the residence and grounds, to be maintained as a public library, art gallery and park, Dr. Pearsons accomplished what he long had planned—the distribution of all his wealth for the benefit of humanity.

Entering on his ninetieth year with failing health, Dr. Pearsons will leave his home to spend the rest of his days at a life-long sanatorium, in which he goes almost penniless. He made his fortune in Chicago real estate.

TO ERECT MONUMENT TO AVIATOR JOHNSTONE

DENVER, Aug. 22.—The Denver board of supervisors tonight voted to erect a monument in honor of Ralph Johnstone, the aviator, who was killed at the meet at Overland park, November 17 last. The tablet will be placed on the spot where Johnstone's machine fell in Delaware street, just outside the park fence. Similar monuments have been decided upon for Moisant at New Orleans and Hoxsey at Los Angeles.

PURE FOOD SHARKS ARE AGAINST SOFT DRINKS

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 22.—A trade against the sale of drug store drinks was the feature of the early part of today's session of the National Association of Pure Food Commissioners.

Dr. S. J. Crumblin of Kansas started things along this line. He admitted that the Kansas department had been unable to find cocaine in a certain suspected product, which has a habit-forming tendency.

Commissioner Bailey of Oregon also reported a similar feature on the part of his department.

The commissioner of Oklahoma, D. E. Barr, then threw some light on the subject. He said there are 22 substituted drinks sold by druggists in his state, as the real article, all of which did contain cocaine with the exception of three.

The riots and looting of Jewish shops were of a desperate character and the military was called out before the mobs were cowed. Additional soldiers were sent to Ebbwastone from Cardiff today, but similar scenes to those enacted last night, when Jewish shops were attacked, occurred again tonight in Ebbwastone, Rhymney and Bryn Mawr.

American Wives Commit Murder With Their Dough

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 22.—That the modern housewife, who attempts to bake her own bread, produces a soggy article and is committing murder, following it to be eaten, was the statement made by Paul Schulze, of Chicago, president of the National Association of Master Bakers, at the second day's session of the annual convention of that body here today.

"This country is full of housewives who are proud of their cooking and who think they are doing their duty by baking at home," Mr. Schulze said. "The long-suffering stomachs of their families continue to pay the penalty of this mistaken sense of duty."

"The American housewife—the earnest and sensible individual, but very, set in her ways," he said, "is still influenced by the working methods adopted in her girlhood. The kitchen fire, however, is still inadequate."

LACK OF RAINFALL RETARDS THE CROPS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Moderately warm weather and a continued lack of rainfall in most districts were the marked features of the weather of the week just ended, according to the national weekly bulletin of the weather bureau issued today.

In the corn-growing states west of the Mississippi it continued dry. In Missouri and Oklahoma, with light rains in Iowa, in portions of eastern Kansas and over much of Nebraska, however, there were good rains, and conditions were more favorable in those states, except in the southern and western parts of Kansas, where hot and dry weather continued. In the principal corn-growing states east of the Mississippi, it was warm, and large sections were without beneficial showers.

After breaking the straps the negro lay on the floor and apparently succumbed but an examination by the prison physicians revealed the fact that he was slowly reviving. His body was again strapped to the chair and 2,500 volts of electricity turned on. Several minutes elapsed before life was extinct.

Then came an executive session to consider two minor nominations and another recess until 2:45 o'clock. Senators gathered in the aisles of the senate chamber during this recess and exchanged parting greetings. Progressives and regulars, Republicans and Democrats, mingled their hearty good wishes.

Confusion in House

In the house, there was the same confusion, only more pronounced. Mr. Underwood of Alabama, Democratic leader, shared with Speaker Clark congratulations over the party's achievements in the first Democratic house in 16 years. Republican Leader Mann and others beamed with good will.

The last measure introduced in the house was a resolution harking back to King Louis XVI. It provided for the erection of a tablet in the rotunda of the Capitol in Washington in commemoration of King Louis' intervention in behalf of this country. The resolution, like a host of others, went over to the regular session.

Senator Owen of Oklahoma precipitated the fastest legislative work of the closing hours. He asked for the passage of a bill authorizing Rodman Wanamaker and others to construct in the entrance to New York harbor a permanent memorial to the North American Indian. The bill had passed the house, but the senate clerk, anticipating no action on it, had carried it away to the vaults. With less than 12 minutes remaining, a hurried search was made. The bill was found and sent back to the house by a messenger, who lost no time on the journey.

One Bill Shut Out

Just at 3 o'clock, officially, 55 bills of the present time, the 55th, which was in the midst of its farewell remarks to the senate, the clerk of the house appeared in the door of the senate with the completed bill, signed by Speaker Clark. The signing of the clerk and the fluttering of the completed bill at the head of the aisle did not stop the tail of the ravel, however, and the bill will rest unsigned by the vice president and the president until next December.

In the closing hours of the session of the house, Representative Kinkaid of New Jersey, amid Democratic applause, made a speech advocating Philippine independence, and predicting that a Democratic congress soon would carry out the promises of the United States to the islands.

Just as Mr. Kinkaid concluded, at 2:57 o'clock, with but three minutes to go, Speaker Clark leaned toward the clerk's table and remarked in an undertone:

Hurriedly Sign Bills

"If you've got any bills down there to be signed, you had better be hustling them up here."

The speaker hastily signed several more measures.

Both Vice President Sherman and Speaker Clark delivered valdettories, expressing appreciation, extending congratulations on the good will shown in a strenuous session, and bespeaking health and happiness during the recess. Then, officially at 3 o'clock, but actually two minutes later, the extra session of congress was declared adjourned.

The session record of measures introduced is 34,038 bills and 484 resolutions in the house and 3,298 bills and 58 resolutions in the senate.

Only a few of these were passed. The senate adjourned without filling the office of president pro tempore.

WANTS GOVERNMENT TO GO SLOW WITH TREATIES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Declaring that ratification of the arbitration treaties with England and France, as submitted by President Taft to the senate, will pave the way for a similar convention with Japan and thereby menace the Pacific coast with conflict, Representative Hamill of New Jersey spoke during the closing hours of today's final session of the house.

He urged that the treaties be not concluded with unreasonable haste. He said that British Ambassador Bryce, and not President Taft, was the father of the treaties.

GOVERNOR DIX CALLS

G. A. R. MEN IMMORTAL

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 22.—With more than 25,000 veterans registered before the close of the second day, the forty-fifth annual national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic is under full headway, and veterans who have attended national encampments for years say the indications are that some recent attendance records will be broken.

Convention hall was too small to seat all who desired to hear Governor Dix speak tonight. Others who made addresses were Mayor Edgerton, Commander John L. Gilman and State Commander George B. Sour.

Tomorrow will be the big day of the encampment, with the coming of President Taft and the parade that will follow.

In his address to the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, Governor Dix dwelt on the sacrifice and the heroism of his hearers, and extolled Lincoln and Grant for their magnanimity and loyalty. Continuing he said:

"You soldiers of a half century ago would say each to the other: 'Why, comrade, I did only the natural thing.'"

"We of today, with respectful, reverent appreciation say to you, the survivors of the saviors of our nation, that you did the heroic thing—unmatched in the past, and to our finite vision impossible of excellence in the future."

"Let us not forget, that upon this same altar of sacrifice were placed the hopes of many firesides; the aching hearts of loyal women who gave to a sacred cause their all. To them and their love of country as well as to those on the field we owe the priceless homage of union and peace."

"When Grant and Lincoln met on that fatal last day of Lincoln's life there came together in the presence of the patient, imaginative Lincoln and the practical, silent Grant the representatives at that time and for all time of American prestige and possibilities. Different in physique, in personality and in mental process, both were yet alike in exhaustless faith and quenchless magnanimity."

"As the thinning ranks of your immortal legions pass, with the valor of old, down the years to come, I would leave with you the thought that the American idea sheds luster throughout civilization for irresistible prowess in war and unparalleled magnanimity in peace."

"And for this heritage, millions yet unborn will bless you."

MUSSER ADMITS 12

MINERS TO BAIL

DENVER, Aug. 22.—Twelve of the 14 striking miners of the northern Colorado coal fields, who were sent to jail by Judge Greeley Whitford several months ago for contempt of court, were admitted to bail today by Justice George W. Musser of the supreme court. The latter ordered a stay of execution on Judge Whitford's sentence until the entire supreme court should have passed upon the application for a writ of supersedeas for all of the imprisoned men, which will be presented to the full court in a few weeks.

Attorneys for the prisoners and the coal operators agreed that such an order might be issued provided it should not apply to William Crawford, secretary of the miners' organization, and Edward Doyle, who wrote articles bitterly assailing Judge Whitford.

Doyle and Crawford will probably be compelled to remain in jail until the entire supreme court shall have passed upon their appeal. If the application for supersedeas should be granted, they would be permitted to return to jail.

train, making Ogden, at a speed of 31 miles in 38 minutes.

It was almost dark when Alwood neared Fort Plain. He hovered a while over the town and then, selecting a clear spot on the opposite bank of the Mohawk river, alighted, to the astonishment of a farmer, a half-dozen angry dogs and a barefoot boy.

"It's been a lazy run all the way," Alwood said. "Anybody could do it. If experiments in aviation could be confined to straight-ahead sailing, I am sure the problem would be more quickly and safely settled. The people who look from the ground in amazement at seeing me at a dizzy height would be surprised at the simplicity of it. I sometimes fix my planes at right angles and sail along without touching them for 10 minutes at a stretch, and then leap back in and seat to figure out my location from the time table, or to eat my luncheon."

MRS. HARRIMAN GIVES $5,000 FOR LABORATORY

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—Mrs. E. H. Harriman, widow of the railroad magnate, has given $5,000 to Dr. F. C. Almsworth, chief surgeon of the Southern Pacific system, for the establishment and endowment of a bacteriological and pathological laboratory for the benefit of the employees of the company. This announcement was made today by Dr. Almsworth, who said the laboratory would be in the Southern Pacific general hospital in San Francisco. Negotiations are now on to secure an expert from the Rockefeller institute of New York to take charge.

Mrs. Harriman's contribution is the second received within a year for the hospital. Here, since Mrs. Collins P. Huntington gave $35,000 for a special hall on the grounds, which is now nearing completion.

Madero was endorsed at the recent

Madero's Masonic affiliations, the ac-

BINFORD GIRL NEVER

WANTS TO SEE BEATTIE

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 22.—If Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., is acquitted of the charge of wife-murder pending against him, there will be no further friend-ship between him and Joseph Binford, the girl for whose love, the prosecution charges, the crime was committed.

Sitting in her cell on the eve of the resumption of the case at Chesterfield county court house tomorrow, Joseph Binford said she expressed the hope that "whoever is guilty will be confessed, and that Henry, who was a good boy, and could never be his friend again, it was the frankest statement she has made since her arrest as a material witness, more than a month ago."

"I hope that Henry is innocent," said the girl. "Once I would have gone through fire at his word, but now I would be afraid to go on the street with him after dark. If he comes clear of the murder charge, I hope never to see him again. Most of all I want to get away from Richmond, where I know people will not follow me on the streets. I know absolutely nothing about the murder. I do not even recall about Henry ever mentioned his wife's name to me."

Beattie spent a quiet day in jail. He will be taken to Chesterfield tomorrow, and the task of completing the jury will be taken up again at noon.

Sheriff Gill has summoned a venire of 20 men, and the prediction is that the jury will be completed tomorrow. The commonwealth has completed its list of witnesses, which now totals more than 75.

VIOLENT ANTI-JEWISH OUTBREAKS IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Violent outbreaks against Jews have now occurred for three successive days in Monmouthshire and are giving the authorities great concern, as they are altogether a new phase in British life.

The Jewish community has made strong representations to the home office and Home Secretary Churchill today, assuring them that no precautions should be overlooked to prevent a recurrence of the disorders.

The riots and looting of Jewish shops were of a desperate character and the military were called out before the riots were quelled. Additional soldiers were sent to Ebbw Vale from Cardiff today but similar scenes to those reported last night, when Jewish shops were preyed, occurred again tonight in Ebbw Vale, Rhymney and Bryn Mawr.

The presence of the troops prevented looting on such a large scale as on Monday night but the police and military had to be continually chasing the rioters with batons and swords. In these charges many persons were injured and a large number were arrested. The rioters attacked women and drove them shrieking from their houses.

The only motive for the outbreaks as alleged by the Jews are guilty of charging high rents to workmen and raising the prices of provisions since the recent strike began.

DR. PEARSONS MAKES

HIS LAST DONATION

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Dr. D. K. Pear-sons, philanthropist, who has distributed a fortune of $7,000,000 in bene-fices, today made his last gift. He gave the town of Hinsdale, a suburb, his residence and five acres of ground, valued at $25,000, for library purposes.

With the bestowal of the residence and grounds, to be maintained as a public library, art gallery and park, Dr. Pearsons accomplished what he long had planned—the distribution of all his wealth for the benefit of humanity.

Referring to his estate, which was with failing health, Dr. Pearsons said he leaves his home to spend the rest of his days at a Hinsdale sanatorium, to which he goes almost penniless. He made his fortune in Chicago, real estate.

TO ERECT MONUMENT TO AVIATOR JOHNSTONE

DENVER, Aug. 22.—The Denver board of supervisors tonight voted to erect a monument in honor of Ralph Johnstone, the aviator, who was killed at the meet at Ogden park, November 17 last. The tablet will be placed at the spot where Johnstone's machine fell in Delaware street, just outside the park fence. Similar monuments have been decided upon for Moisant at New Orleans and Hoxsey at Los Angeles.

PURE FOOD SHARKS ARE AGAINST SOFT DRINKS

DELUKE, Minn., Aug. 22.—A tirade against the sale of drug-store drinks was the feature of the early part of today's session of the National Association of Pure Food Commissioners.

Dr. J. J. Crampton of Kansas started things along this line. He admitted that the Kansas department had been unable to find cocaine in a certain suspected product, which has a habit-forming tendency.

Commissioner Bailey of Oregon also reported a similar failure on the part of his department.

The commissioner of Oklahoma, D.
E. Barr, then threw some light on the subject. "He said there are 33 substituted drinks sold by druggists in his state as the real article, all of which do contain cocaine with the exception of three."

NEGRO SLAYER DIES HARD

EDDYVILLE, Ky., Aug. 22.—When Oliver Locke, a negro wife murderer, was paying the penalty for his crime at the penitentiary here today, the condemned man, through whose body 2,000 volts of electricity were coursing, struggled for 28 minutes with superhuman strength, and finally broke the leather straps that bound his arms and legs to the death chair.

American Wives

Commit Murder With Their Dough

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 22.—That the modern housewife who attempts to bake her own bread produces a soggy article and is committing murder in allowing it to be eaten, was the statement made by Paul Schulze of Chicago, president of the National Association of Master Bakers, at the second day's session of the annual convention of that body here today.

"This country is full of housewives who are proud of their cooking and who think they are doing their duty by baking at home," Mr. Schulze said.

The long-suffering stomachs of their families continue to pay the penalty of this mistaken sense of duty.

"The American housewife, of today, is an earnest and sensible individual, but very set in her ways. She is influenced by the working methods adopted in her girlhood. The kitchen fire, however, is still inadequate.

"One thing which we bakers in the larger cities see most plainly today is the absolute necessity of educating the housewife to quit baking at home. Let us come forward. Let us show these women that home baking is wrong. Let us make them realize the overwhelming benefits of buying bread baked in modern sanitary bakeries."

Mr. Schulze told of a woman in Chicago who had built up a business selling "Health bread," her home product.
She brought him a loaf and wanted to sell him the formula.

"I cut into the loaf," said Mr.
Schulze; "I saw that the center was unbaked dough. I have been wondering since what effect that woman's health bread has had on the death rate in Chicago. She was unquestionably committing murder."

LACK OF RAINFALL RETARDS THE CROPS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Moder-
lack of rainfall in most districts were the marked features of the weather of the week just ended, according to the national weekly bulletin of the weather bureau issued today.

In the corn-growing states west of the Mississippi it continued dry in Missouri and Oklahoma, with light rains in Iowa. In portions of eastern Kansas and over much of Nebraska, however, there were good rains, and conditions were more favorable in those states, except in the southern and western parts of Kansas, where hot and dry weather continued. In the principal corn-growing states east of the Mississippi it was warm, and large sections were without beneficial showers.

here that the former shah, Moham-northeast of Teheran. The report admits that he has lost 200 men and two guns in a pitched battle with the government forces.

1,500 COMMUTERS TIE UP A SYSTEM

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 22.—Fifteen hundred residents of Rainier valley, a southeastern suburban section, ignored a temporary restraining order issued late yesterday by United States District Judge Cornelius H. Hanford, and by demanding transfers and refusing to pay a second fare at Kenyon street, stopped every wheel on the Seattle, Renton & Southern railway today. Incidentally the street car passengers caused the arrests of 14 car-crow-

STATE PAYS BIG SUM FOR HOLE IN GROUND

DENVER, Aug. 22.—The state of Colorado yesterday paid out the sum of $3,803.98 for a hole in the ground. The hole, which is 553 feet in depth, is located in Montezuma county. It was bored by Fred Day, the oil prospector, at the rate of $6 a foot. Day appeared at the state house yesterday and reported that his work was completed and received his money. No oil nor indications of oil other than a "little gas" was discovered in the hole. Day declares that he intends to sink a well not far from the state's hole and that he has no hopes of striking anything until he has gone 2,500 feet. The state has no more funds to be expended in oil prospecting and its hole probably will be sunk no deeper until another appropriation is made. The appropriation for the sinking of the Montezuma county prospect hole was made by the Seventeenth general assembly.

WOMAN AWAKENED BY NOISE ROUTS BURGLAR FROM HOME

DENVER, Aug. 22. Mrs. Charles B. Whitehead frightened away a burglar and saved her jewels Sunday night, but she didn't know it until her husband informed her that his $300 Swiss repeater, his gold cuff links and all his scarfpins had been stolen during the night.

Mrs. Whitehead was sleeping on a porch at the rear of the house and adjoining her own bedroom when she was awakened by a noise. She switched on the electric lights and looked into her own room. Seeing nothing she concluded the sound she had heard was merely a dream and went back to bed. The following morning her husband told her of the burglary.

The burglar had ransacked his room and that of his little daughter. From her room he took what jewelry she possessed, but was frightened away, evidently, when Mrs. Whitehead turned on the lights.

DEATH OF LIEUTENANT IN NAVY BEING PROBED

BOSTON, Aug. 22.—Two investigations into the death of Lieutenant William A. Whittier, executive officer of the revenue cutter Androscoggin, who died as the result of injuries received when attacked by sandbaggers while walking in North street Saturday night, were in progress today. One was conducted by a board of inquiry on board the Androscoggin and the other by the Boston police. Neither investigation has thrown any light on the identity of the assailant of Lieutenant Whittier and three companions.

FRAT DISAPPROVES OF SNOBS SAYS TREASURER

Principal Hill Will Not Attend National Conclave—Who Is the Colorado Springs Delegate?

This time is coming, says L. D. Ready of Denver, national treasurer of the Phi Lambda Epsilon, when members of the High school fraternities and faculty members, like the lion and the lamb, will "sleep in the same bed."

"There is a gradual change from the old-time opinion, held by many educational leaders, that members of the High school 'frats' were a 'bunch of snobs,' Ready said last night. 'Faculty members are appreciating more and more the things we stand for and the good we are doing. This is especially true in the High schools in the east. The kindly feeling is moving westward.'

"I account for it from the fact that we are taking the faculty members into our confidence. We are showing them the ideas that we are trying to advance. Our principles, which are of the highest character, are made known to them and they cannot help but appreciate the work."

"We have shown and we will always show a tendency to meet the faculty members more than half way. At Kansas City last year we bared freshmen from the ranks of our fraternal body. It is true that young High school students, upon being admitted to the fraternity, were inclined to be snobbish."

"Three faculty members of eastern High schools are members of the advisory board. This shows that we are in earnest and want to do everything to destroy this unkindly feeling. You may be sure that with such men on the advisory board, nothing would be permitted in our work that would be displeasing to a fair-minded man."

"Snobbishness, or any kindred feeling, is thoroughly disapproved by the fraternity. We insist upon certain requirements and every member strives to live up to them. But could you call a boy a 'snob' because he tries to be a gentleman?"

Faculty Invited.

"To show that we are willing to meet the faculty members more than half way, we are inviting them to become members of our body. But we insist that we have the right to select which one of the members shall join the fraternity. We are not going to choose a faculty member who does not come up to our ideal of what a man should be. But if we do find one whom we thoroughly approve, we invite him into the society."

"The statement that we are all sons of the rich is untrue. In Denver, with a membership of about 300 in our fraternity, about 90 of them have to work their way through school, carrying papers, etc."

In reply to a question as to whether he will accept the invitation to attend the meeting of the fraternity, R. C. Hill, principal of the High school here, answered by asking with the ideas I have been advancing?"

He quoted the requirements of the school board that all students, in enrolling, must declare that they are not members of a fraternity or sorority, when asked what position he will take if the Colorado Springs chapter selects a delegate to the meeting from the High school ranks.

"The Colorado Springs chapter met last night to elect a delegate, but since the 'chosen one' faces expulsion from the High school, his name was not given out."

"We issued the invitation to Mr. Hill to attend our meetings in a spirit of courtesy and friendliness, and not with an intent to antagonize him or members of the faculty or board of education," one Colorado Springs member said last night.

F. B. Owens, attorney of Oklahoma City, and one of the chapter members of the Phi Lambda Epsilon, is here to attend the conclave which opens its meeting this morning at the Alamo hotel. From 150 to 250 delegates are expected.

Mayor Avery will deliver the address of welcome. H. B. Holster, president of the fraternity of Berkeley, Cal., will respond. Luncheon will be served, following the transaction of regular business this morning. A reception will be held in the parlors of the Alamo hotel this afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock. The Denver chapter members will entertain with a smoker at 8:30 o'clock this evening. A dance will be given at the casino Friday night at the close of the convention.

ALDERMEN HURL CHARGES OF WATERWORKS GRAFT

PUEBLO, Colo., Aug. 22.—Ugly charges and insinuations were bandied by two angry aldermen in the city council last night. Chairman C. J. Donnelly pitted himself against Alderman Norbert Zinc, following a debate over the reappointment of standing committees. Relinquishing the chair temporarily, Chairman Donnelly introduced a resolution requesting district judges to call a special grand jury to investigate the charges of graft that have recently been made against members of the council in connection with their positions as trustees of the North Side water works. Alderman Zinc, a water trustee, fought the resolution successfully and succeeded in getting the council to return the document to its author. Alderman Zinc contended that the charges of graft against the water trustees were merely street talk.

U. S. JUDGE DENIES LIBERTY TO FORMER INSURRECTO

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 22.—A motion to dismiss the case against C. Rhys Pryce, leader of the Mexican liberal army on the Lower California, during the recent revolution, whom the Mexican government wants extradited to face charges of murder, was denied today by William M. Van Dyke, United States commissioner. A continuance of a day was granted.

The dismissal was asked on grounds that Pryce had been held in jail more than 40 days, the alleged legal limit in international cases.

ALLEGED DESPERADO IS FINALLY ARRESTED

DENVER, Aug. 22.—Alexander Peterson, believed by government officials to be one of the most daring desperadoes of the west, sawmill hand and gun-man of repute, went back to Puerco Springs after a year's absence, and was arrested on the charge of holding up the stage which plies between Norwood and Placerville, carrying mail and passengers. He was brought to Denver tomorrow by Deputy United States Marshal E. C. Jewell.

Peterson was arrested on descriptions furnished by his former employers at Puerco Springs, by Postoffice Inspector J. S. T. Gregg, now clerk of Jefferson county, who worked up the evidence which finally resulted in the man's arrest.

The robbery was one of the most spectacular in Colorado in years. The stage was just round the jagged curve in the mountains between Norwood and Placerville and going at a fair pace downhill, when the bandit, with two guns in hand, grabbed the heads of the horses and brought them to a sudden stop. The stage crowded the animals, who became frightened and pranced about, drawing the vehicle to the brink of a precipice with a sheer descent of 1,000 feet. One of the wheels touched the edge, but the weight on the opposite side prevented it from falling into the chasm.

The robber calmly watched the stage plunge and roll, all of the time keeping his guns leveled at driver and passengers. When he saw that it would not fall over the precipice, he ordered the six passengers and driver out and lined them up in the shadow of the mountains and made all of them deliver their money to him. He refused to accept gold watches and other jewelry of great value, telling the owners he did not care to be detected in that easy fashion.

DIE ON PEAK

occasions told his wife that he did not believe he could go to the summit. Those who heard the couple discuss the advisability of trying to reach the top, say that Mrs. Skinner was eager to push ahead, saying that she had come all the way from Texas to walk up the Peak.

At Mountain View, just half way up, the couple stopped for a time with Tom Wilson, editor of The Pikes Peak News. Both seemed exhausted, and Mr. Skinner urged his wife to desist from the arduous climb, but she insisted on continuing the journey, and he agreed to accompany her.

"I am from Texas," she said, "and want to finish what I started. Besides, I came all the way from Texas to climb the Peak, and climb it I will."

At Windy Point, a little more than two miles below the summit, Skinner was almost in a state of collapse, and his wife was walking several yards ahead of him. This was about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Collapse With Goal in Sight.

Mr. and Mrs. Skinner staggered on up the mountain for more than a mile, and then, with their goal in sight, they sank down, unable to take another step. Then it was that a snow storm broke which drenched the foothills and lowlands with rain, and snow transformed the miles of mountain and sky into a wilderness of white.

Men of the mountains said yesterday that the storm of Monday afternoon and evening sent the mercury down to 10 above zero up around Windy Point, where the wind sweeps from the north and west. A foot of snow lay in the mountains within a few hours Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Skinner carried nothing as a protection against the cold. She had a small handbag containing a handkerchief and feminine trinkets, and this was picked up near the bodies.

In Skinner's pocketbook was found a $10 bill, water-soaked and frozen, and about a dollar in small change. There were also two accident insurance policies for $2,500 each, one in the name of Sallie E. Skinner and the other in Skinner's name. They were dated August 9, 1911, by the company issuing them, the Standard Accident Insurance company of Detroit, and marked good for 90 days. A condition of having perfect unanimity among the Democrats and of achieving an extraordinary amount of constructive statesmanship at this extraordinary session can never be taken away from us. Every Democrat in the house and every insurgent Republican who stood up to the rack is entitled to his full share of credit.

Instructions Today.

Coroner Jackson got into telegraphic communication with friends of Mr. and Mrs. Skinner in Dallas last night, and expects to receive instructions this morning to send the bodies to that city for burial.

As nearly as can be determined, the Skinners came to Colorado Springs about two weeks ago, expecting to remain here until September 1. The authorities have not been able to learn where they stopped here, or who knew them. They were at the Union Printers' home for dinner a week ago last Sunday.

The sad double tragedy is cited as a warning by residents of the mountains against attempts to climb the Peak on foot at this time of the year. Visitors, especially, having heard so much about the famous mountain, make up their minds to walk to the summit, so that can relate the experience on their return home. The warm weather prevailing in Colorado Springs and Manitou may be followed by severe blizzards on the Peak, and those who attempt the climb, in most cases, clad only in the lightest of summer apparel, subject themselves to sudden cold, which, coupled with the exposure and hardship incident to the ascent, proves a grave danger.

DENVERITE WILL WED FAMED GREELEY SINGER

GREELEY, Colo., Aug. 22.—Miss Ina Ramsey, daughter of C. H. Ramsey, a wealthy merchant and farmer, will be married September 6 to Luther E. Ramsey of Denver. Miss Ramsey is a gifted singer, having returned recently from Europe, where she spent three years under the leading masters.

Speaker Clark and Minority Leader Mann Review Session

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Champ Clark, speaker of the house of representatives, in a review of the work of the first session of the Sixty-second congress, declared that the Democratic party had set a good example for Democrats everywhere and that the party had redeemed every promise it made in the campaign of 1910.

"At this session the Democrats have made a record which has surprised our friends and humiliated our enemies," said Speaker Clark. "It has put heart and hope into Democrats everywhere. The extra session was extraordinary, not only in the sense of being a special session, called by the president, but also in the amount and quality of the work done in the house by the combined Democrats and insurgents and the combined Democrats and Republican insurgents in the senate, and especially by the unanimity of action developed by the house Democrats."

Predictions Fall Flat.

"It was predicted freely, vociferously, enthusiastically and confidently by the 'standard' press and orators that we would go to pieces. On that account and by reason of that hope they rejoiced that the extra session of congress was called, so that we might go to pieces at the earliest possible date. But we have sorely disappointed all their expectations. They even set the date when we would go to pieces, which was the day of the Democratic caucus, on January 15, but unfortunately for them, in that caucus everything was done unanimously. The next morning, when they found we had agreed in spite of their malicious predictions to the contrary, they had to pinch themselves to see if they were awake."

"They then said surely we would go to pieces as soon as we reached the tariff question, but again they were doomed to disappointment, and we did not go to pieces at all. We are more thoroughly united in the house at the end of the session, if possible, than at the beginning."

Set Good Example.

"We have set a good example to Democrats everywhere. Sneered at for years as a party of mere negation and as being utterly lacking in ability for constructive statesmanship, we passed through the house more constructive legislation and better than has passed through any house in the same length of time in 30 years. We have set pace in that regard for future houses."

"We redeemed every promise made in order to carry the elections in 1910. We have economized, we passed the reciprocity bill, the wool tariff bill, the free list bill, the cotton bill with the senate amendments, which included the iron and steel schedule and the chemical schedule, we resubmitted to ratification of the constitutional amendment providing for popular election of senators of the United States; we passed a bill for the publication of campaign expenses before the election; we liberalized the rules, making the committee elective by the house; we passed a resolution to admit New Mexico and Arizona, and we passed a large number of other bills of more or less importance. It is a record of which we may well be proud and on which we will sweep the country in 1912."

Small Favors Received.

"To show how completely the 'standard' Republicans are demoralized it is only necessary to quote the newspaper statement that there was great rejoicing and congratulation at the White house because we failed by a scratch to get the two-thirds majority to override the president's veto, although we have only 63 majority in the house. To this complexion has it come at last, that the president, who rode into power by a huge majority, is glad to escape the humiliation of having his vetoes overridden in a house containing a majority of only 63. Small favors are thankfully received by the administration."

"Notwithstanding the fact that four cabinet members were on the floor of the house lobbying in favor of the veto with all of their power, allurement and patronage of the administration to help them influence votes, 22 insurgent Republicans had the courage and manhood to override the president's vetoes."

'What's Writ Is Writ'

"What's writ is writ, and whatever the future may have in store, the honor of having perfect unanimity among the Democrats and of achieving an extraordinary amount of constructive statesmanship at this extraordinary session can never be taken away from us. Every Democrat in the house and every insurgent Republican who stood up to the rack is entitled to his full share of credit."

"We honestly and persistently endeavored to relieve the people of some of their burden of taxation, but the president would not have it. To use a sporting phrase, 'he blocked the game.' On these issues we appeal to the country, feeling absolutely certain that as we have stood manfully for the best interests of the people, the people will stand by us."

The four cabinet officers to whom the speaker referred as having been on the floor of the house when the tariff revision vetoes were pending in that body, were Attorney General Wickershaw, Postmaster General Hitchcock, Secretary of War Slimmon and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagle.

Mann Issues Statement.

Republican Leader Mann of the house, in a statement issued today, giving the minority view of the work of the extra session of the Democratic house, declared that the net result was to strengthen the president and weaken the Democracy, and that the Democrats, "trying to put the president in a hole," in tariff revision legislation, had been "hoist by their own petard."

"The special session," said Mr. Mann, "was called by the president in the fulfillment of the obligations of his agreement with Canada to consider and pass on the Canadian reciprocity bill. That bill passed and has become a law."

stitution to deprive the general government of one of its necessary powers.

Fought Publicly.

"They fought against publicity of primary election expenses, until we strangled them into yielding. They nearly defeated statehood for Arizona by insisting that congress give practical approval to recall of judges. They prepared tariff bills without knowledge either of form or substance. They brought in tariff bills in grotesque form with a plain avowal that they neither knew nor cared what the effect might be on the industries of the country, and planted themselves squarely on a platform against protection and a tariff for revenue only without knowing what the effect on the revenue would be. They have declared in favor of larger importations from abroad regardless of whether we have idle factories and idle men who might produce similar goods."

"While entering on the domain of tariff legislation they have refused to consider other needed legislation. They declined to consider a bill fixing the tolls on the Panama canal, a matter of urgent importance. We were unable to force them to take up conservation legislation, especially bills to protect and utilize the resources of Alaska."

"While they have attempted to cast odium on the tariff board and have denounced that board in unmeasured language, they have taken no steps to provide themselves information for much needed tariff legislation."

"The principal legislation which this session has enacted is the provision in the Canadian reciprocity bill admitting wood pulp and paper free from Canada. That provision in the law was drafted by me and enacted exactly as I had drafted it. Their acceptance of that provision was the wisest thing the Democrats have done."

No Information on Tariff.

"The special session has developed the broadness of President Taft's statesmanship and also the incompetence of the Democrats when it comes to legislation. They have tried to put the president in a hole. They have been hoist by their own petard. The net result of the special session has been to strengthen the president and weaken the Democrats before the country."

WHAT'S THE USE

"Of coming all the way to Colorado and not seeing the grandest part of it. There is nothing on this continent to equal 'The Cripple Creek trip.'"

MULLER WAS EXCITABLE

DENVER, Aug. 22.—Denver friends of the late Alfred Muller declared today that if he was short in his accounts as secretary of the National Jewish Hospital for Consumptives, it was undoubtedly due to the fact that he was mentally upset during the last few months of his life.

"He was flighty and excitable beyond reason," said one of these friends today. "He was of a nervous temperament and made seas of ink out of the scratch of a pen. He was careless with money, and if he was short in his accounts he did not know it. I am sure of that."

Mr. Muller's will was filed for probate in the Denver county court today. It was executed in March, 1909, and after bequeathing all his property to his widow and naming her and Meyer Friedman as executors, which empowers the "executors to compromise and settle all claims or demands that may be against me or in my favor."

Mr. Friedman declined to accept the position as executor and Mrs. Muller will administer the affairs of the estate alone.

"Mrs. Muller will receive scarcely anything from Mr. Muller's life insurance policies," said Mr. Friedman today, "as they are nearly all hypothecated."

ATTEMPTING TO ESCAPE CONVICT IS ELECTROCUTED

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Aug. 22.—With its prison garb hidden by clothing artificially constructed from a blanket, the body of James B. Clifton, a life-term convict in the state penitentiary here, was found today dangling among the wires at the top of a power circuit pole just outside the prison wall. With a broomstick and a length of rope, the man had constructed a "trip-the-trolley" seat, swinging from the wires leading to the top of a prison building. Some time during the night he launched himself on his slide to liberty, and 4,000 volts passed through his body, burning out his life before he reached the pole.

Clifton was sent to prison from Oakland for the attempted murder of a captain of detectives.

BOLT OF LIGHTNING RUNS INTO POCKET

MANFIELD CENTRE, Conn., Aug. 22.—A bolt of lightning threw itself into the hip pocket of Joseph Barrow, a farmer, as he was sitting in the kitchen of his home here last night. The bolt came into the house via the stove pipe and was attracted to Barrow's hip pocket by the presence there of an iron monkey wrench and a big jack knife. It passed down his leg, burning him severely and then careened over the floor, upsetting a tub of water and splitting a huge chopping block. In Barrow's pocket the end of the wrench and the blade of the knife were fused into a solid piece of steel.

MOTIVE FOR FALSE REPORT OF MAN'S DEATH MYSTERY

GREELEY, Colo., Aug. 22.—The motive which prompted a well-dressed young man to call at business houses here and report that Everett Young, aged 22, was thrown from a wagon last Friday night, near Eaton, and instantly killed, is puzzling those who heard the story. The coroner, undertakers and physicians over the county say they know nothing of it.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Aug. 22.—A coroner's jury called to fix the blame for the deaths of G. J. PUEBLO, Colo., Aug. 22.—Justice Corson, who has prosecuted many thieves during his term of office, is not immune from their depredations, as was shown when a robber entered his office and stole $12 in checks and county warrants. Today at La Veta a man was arrested while trying to raise money on the checks.

THEOLOGICAL PROGRESS.

From the Boston Transcript. The entire graduating class of a Presbyterian theological seminary in Ontario recently informed the examining committee that they were unable to accept literally the Westminster confession of faith. The chairman of the committee made reply: "Gentlemen, if you subscribed literally I think I may say that the presidency of Toronto would not want you." The world "do move."

TOURISTS---And Anybody Else

I have RESIDENCES here, and RANCHES near here, IRRIGATED RANCHES, STOCK and DAIRY RANCHES at very low prices for cash, or on easy payments. The Ranches will DOUBLE in value in 5 years. That is 20 per cent good enough. Remember too, that we have all the year-round pasture, which is the Colorado Ranchman's biggest asset, and which makes up for the difference in quantity of crops raised here on land, (NOT IRRIGATED), and on land east that costs 5 to 10 times as much. I also have residences here, and ranches near here, that can be exchanged for farms, suburban properties, business buildings and merchandise east.

CUT THIS OUT, call and get my lists, and leave with me descriptions of what YOU have for exchange. See what I have for sale and for trade, while you are here. SEE THE PROPERTIES.

Bolles and Associates
Buy the Hotel Colorado

R. J. Bolles, formerly of Colorado Springs, owned the Denver & Rio Grande railroad in its efforts to secure control of the Hotel Colorado, at Glenwood Springs, yesterday morning, and will become the new managing director of the hotel, it is said. He is understood to have been interested formerly in the hotel.

Associated with Mr. Bolles in the deal are C. Rathbourn of London, England, and R. T. Buck and R. A.

R. J. BOLLES

mar Sands, both of New York city. The purchase price was $500,000. The Rio Grande officials bid $400,000 for the property.

The hotel was sold at sheriff's sale to settle a claim of $500,000. Mr. Bolles did the bidding for the new owners. The deal carries with it the title to the hotel, pool, bath house and 25 acres of land.

Mr. Bolles was one of the prominent capitalists of Colorado Springs for several years. Formerly he was president of the Cheyenne Mountain Country club and a leader in social circles. He also was president of the Colorado Springs Mining Stock association for several years.

Mr. Bolles removed to Florida a few years ago and became president of the Florida Fruit Lands company. He has made considerable money, it is said, in Florida land. William T. O'Brien brought suit against him in the district court a short time ago, claiming one-fourth interest in the Florida Lands company.

NASH NYE MARRIED

Word was received in Colorado Springs yesterday telling of the marriage of Nash Nye, formerly of this city, in California last Saturday. The bride, it is understood, was a former Mrs. Hubbard of Denver.

Nash Nye is a son of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Nye of this city. He is a graduate of the Colorado Springs high school and was one of the star football players on the high school team. He was assistant manager of the El Paso Club before going to Denver to engage in business. He later went to San Francisco, where he will continue to live.

SPRINGS AFTER ANOTHER BIG CONVENTION IN 1912

Colorado Springs boosters are out after the 1912 annual meeting of the General Passenger Agents association. The passenger agents meet in Minneapolis in September.

A. W. Henderson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, is at the head of the movement. He is aided by A. S. Dunning, manager of the Antlers hotel, and every railroad man in the city.

"I firmly believe," said one railroad man yesterday, "that every general agent in the United States will be just as earnest a worker in behalf of Colorado Springs as anyone in this city. Here's the idea: We get them all here, educate them, and then they can talk more fluently about the city as a resort when they get home."

Local Ticket Broker

Cited for Contempt
by Judge R. E. Lewis

Henry C. Paulsen, ticket broker of Colorado Springs, has been cited by Judge R. E. Lewis of the federal court of Denver for contempt of court. Paulsen, it is claimed, sold a ticket to Bernard F. McCarth of Kansas City, ignoring an injunction that had been granted by Judge Lewis prohibiting ticket scalping.

Judge Lewis' injunction, granted in 1908, prohibits the sale of nontransferable railroad tickets. Paulsen was not one of the defendants in the injunction proceedings, but W. N. Valle, attorney for the railroads, and who petitioned for the citation of contempt, had him served with a copy of the injunction June 11.

McCarthy was one of the jurors in the Henwood murder trial at Denver. Paulsen, it is said, gave him a rebate order on a Kansas City broker.

Kansas Supreme Justice Tells of Civil War and Praises Colo. Springs

Judge A. W. Benson, a Civil war veteran, and now a justice of the supreme court of Kansas, gave an address at a "camp fire" meeting of the members of the G. A. R. last night at G. A. R. hall. A large number was in attendance.

Judge Benson, who was a member of the Twentieth army corps, spoke for the most part of the old soldiers. However, the first part of his address was a glowing tribute to Colorado Springs. He told the old Indian legend of the maiden who was watching the reflections in Chautauqua lake, when she lost her balance and fell in, drowning. An Indian brave, going by, saw the maiden, whereupon he called her death "Chautauqua," meaning an easy death. And so Judge Benson says the Colorado Springs means an easy life. He praised the whole state of Colorado, and in the next sentence praised Kansas in the same way, telling of her bounteous crops and of the way the press all over the country speaks of the state. He says that if there is a high wind in Iowa people say it is a "Kansas cyclone." If Kansas has bad crops, everybody hears of it, and if she has good crops, a little note is made of it.

Tells of the War.

He spoke of the old soldiers, nostalgically fighting the war over again. He said the fight was carried on by "village striplings," a great many of the boys wearing the blue being 16 years of age or under. Their saying, "Nash, 'tag above us, foe in front of us, and our dear ones behind us." He eulogized the great leaders of the war.

Judge Benson said that if the soldier had not been paid a cent for his services, he would have been repaid by the glory of having fought for his country, which cannot be taken away from any man. "What there is to do in life is what we find to do," is the way he expressed it.

Then he talked of the great questions of the country. During the war it was the preservation of the Union—after the war it was the preservation of the national credit; today it is the preservation of the national resources. He said that the old soldiers are facing sundown, but the rising generation will be able to cope with all the great questions of the day and to settle them in the best manner possible.

Forger Taken East to Finish Long Sentence

C. C. Watkins, a man with many aliases, must serve the remainder of a 12-year sentence for forgery in the Indiana penitentiary before Colorado authorities can try him on a similar charge. A requisition was granted and Watkins was taken to Michigan City, Ind., yesterday. He was arrested at Fountain a few weeks ago, with Harry Raggsdale. The latter, it is said, was trying to cash a forged check for $500 at the time. Watkins was paroled several months ago, but was rearrested at Kansas City for violation of the parole. He later jumped a $1,000 bond, it is said, and nothing more was heard of him until he was arrested at Fountain.

TO STUDY FOSSIL FIELDS

A party of four from the Smithsonian institute, headed by W. F. Saffro, government expert in the bureau of entomology department of agriculture, arrived yesterday morning. They will begin a week's study of the Florissant fossil beds.

CARNIVAL PICTURES IN LESLIE'S WEEKLY

Colorado Springs already is beginning to receive widespread advertising through national weeklies as a result of the recent carnival here. The latest issue of Leslie's Weekly contains a photograph of Buckskin Charlie seated in one of the Wright airplanes used during the aviation meet here. Another photograph in the same issue shows the Ute Indians giving their famous war dance in the Garden of the Gods.

The carnival committee arranged with the leading periodicals of the country to furnish them with spectacular photographs and leading matter relative to the events during carnival week, and for the next several weeks there will be seen by millions of readers all over the country. The value of the advertising to Colorado Springs and the entire Lake Park region cannot be overestimated.

ANOTHER IMPORTANT BODY MAY MEET IN THIS CITY

A formal invitation was sent yesterday to the officers of the Great Plains Cooperative Extension association, asking them to hold their annual meeting in this city the week of October 16, during the session of the International Dry Farming congress. Secretary Henderson of the Chamber of Commerce sent the invitation to John S. Cole. He assured the officers that there will be ample hotel accommodations for the 50 or 60 members who will attend, if the meeting is called here. Assurance was given that there will be no advance in hotel rates, and that a suitable room will be provided for the sessions.

The men comprising this body are the brains of the technical work in connection with stations and the department of agriculture, and heretofore they have always met at Washington. As the leading agricultural men will gather here at the time of the congress, which is the biggest and most active agricultural society in the world, it seemed an opportune time to call this association together.

Oklahoma's Socialist Vote From I. T. Portion

Oklahoma's Socialist vote comes chiefly from the Indian territory side of the baby state, according to E. T. Leonard of Duncan, Okla., who is here on a two weeks' visit, stopping at the Adams hotel.

"Until we had statehood, the people living on that side of the territory were prevented from voting for several years. They did not attempt to do so in politics and took no interest in what was going on around them. Many of them were without principle."

"The cause statehood and the liberty of voting. They did not know what to do or what they believed. The Socialist doctrine seemed to fit the bill, and as a consequence, Oklahoma has a large Socialist vote."

"But they are becoming educated," Mr. Leonard said in conclusion.

Handsome Trophies for Colorado-Grown Flax

Two handsome silver cups have been donated to the Dry Farming congress to be awarded the best display of Colorado-grown flax. L. T. Mitchell of Denver gives the cups, which will cost $25 and $20 each. Mr. Mitchell is an enthusiastic booster of flax and believes it has a big future in this state. They will be awarded at the exposition of dry-farmed products held here the week of October 16.

The conditions are that the flax must have been grown in Colorado without irrigation, and judging will be on average results and quality of growth. The year has been dry, but from many quarters come good reports on flax, and Mr. Mitchell expects to see lively competition. Those who expect to enter the competition may get special information on rulings by writing to headquarters here.

THINKS UNIDENTIFIED MAN MAY BE HUSBAND

Mrs. Vinnie M. James has started an investigation to find if the body of an unknown man, who died and was buried at Cripple Creek, the latter part of June, is not her husband, Andrew J. James. He has been missing from his home in Colorado Springs since May 8.

CITY AND COUNTY CHURCH WORKERS MEET TOMORROW

A large gathering of Sunday school workers of the city and county is anticipated for tomorrow evening at the First Presbyterian church. The Sunday school of this church will entertain all the teachers and officers of all the Sunday schools in this city, Colorado City, Manitou and all other portions of the county, where Sunday schools are maintained. Every teacher and officer is urged to attend, so that each may become better acquainted with the workers in other schools.

Department conferences will be held for all the various divisions of the Sunday school work, and county officers will conduct these conferences in separate rooms. Individual school department heads are urged to be in attendance to meet the county officer in charge of their special work.

The furtherance of plans for next Sunday, when the work of the county and state will be presented by special program in each school, will be taken up. The offering of this day will be given toward each school's pledge toward this special part of Sunday school work. Sunday school week, September 18-24, will also come up for discussion, as well as the state convention, which meets in this city in 1912, and at which some 2,000 delegates are expected. The closing feature of the evening will be refreshments served by the entertaining Sunday school.

WILL INVESTIGATE WHITE SLAVE CONDITIONS HERE

Leslie Greer, well-known magazine writer, will tell of the influence of summer resorts on the white slave traffic in Leslie's Weekly. He is in Colorado Springs to make an extended investigation of the situation.

Mr. Greer has written several articles for Leslie's, dealing with the white slave traffic. His writings have brought about a general improvement in the living conditions of the working girls. Accompanied by Mrs. Greer, he is stopping at the Arcadia hotel.

MANITOU DEPARTMENT*BIG PARTIES GO TO CRYSTAL PARK TODAY

In all probability the regular Crystal park car out of the Manitou station will not be run this morning on account of the large touring parties which are booked to take the trip, it being thought that all the machines of the company will be used for them.

Early this morning a special train run by the Pennsylvania Railroad company will arrive and remain here till the day, the party, consisting of 36 people, spending most of the time at Crystal park. The railroad company has organized this tour in order that those taking it might go to Crystal park. Attached to the regular Pullman tickets are coupons for the auto trip.

The Hutchinson touring party of 82 members, under the supervision of E. A. Pandrop, traveling passenger agent for the Union Pacific, will also take the trip today. This tour is one of the Union Pacific and Chicago Northwestern trips, several of which have already made this one of their stops.

TOURISTS STILL COMING

According to several of the attraction solicitors here more tourists came into Manitou yesterday than departed, the ratio being about 3 to 1. A number of the merchants thought that the short, cold spell, which usually comes about this time of the year, would cause the visitors to think that winter had at last arrived, and that it was time for them to return home. Although some are leaving, a great many more, most of whom have been on a tour of the coast states, are arriving, and will probably stay for a number of weeks. Many cottages have been leased until October 31, and it seems that more people than usual are going to take advantage of the delightful weather to come.

DEPARTMENT*FIGHT OVER CUSTOMERS; ONE FINED, ONE RELEASED

Lawrence Bulthman of the Barr burro barns was fined $10 and costs for disturbing and Lawrence Wynn of the Quinby barns was discharged on the same charge by Justice Faulkner yesterday afternoon.

It is said the fight started in this manner: A street car stopped at the barns west of the city and a number of passengers alighted. Several men rushed out from the Barr barns on one side of the road, and at the same time several more started from the Quinby barns on the other side. Almost before their prospective customers stepped off the car the men had surrounded them, the solicitors trying to stand so they (the tourists) could not see the barns of their competitors.

Barr's burro barn on this side, people, however, carriages and burros to all points of interest in the Pikes Peak region. Take the trip through the Garden of the Gods.

"Quinby's barn on this side, ladies. Burros to all points of interest in the Pikes Peak region. Through the Garden of the Gods, over the high drive by carriage, take burros.

"Barr's barn on this side, ladies. "Right on this side for your burros." After about five minutes of this the tourists did not know what to do. Finally they stepped over to one of the barns and settled the dispute by getting a carriage.

One of the men thought he had not been "treated right" by the other solicitor, and started a "rough house" with the foregoing results.

DRUNKEN MAN SLEEPS

Alec Larson was fined $5 and costs by Magistrate McCosh yesterday for being drunk. It is said that Larson went to a residence on the north side and lay down on the porch to sleep. One of the occupants awoke to find him there, and called the police.

RAIN CLEARS GUTTERS

The recent heavy rains have been a great help to the street commissioner, and his gang of laborers in clearing the gutters and irrigation ditches. For the last two months dead leaves, paper, small boxes, etc., have fallen into the ditches. Although the water has been turned on each day it was not of sufficient force to clear all the rubbish away. The rains have washed the streets absolutely clean and carried away all the trash.

Woman's Happiness

The highest point of woman's happiness is reached only through motherhood, in the clasping of her child within her arms. Yet the mother-to-be is often fearful of nature's ordeal and shirks from the suffering incident to its consummation. But for nature's ills and discomforts nature provides remedies, and in Mother's Friend is to be found a medicine of great value to every expectant mother. It is an oily emulsion for external application, composed of ingredients which act with beneficial and soothing effect on those portions of the system involved. It is intended to prepare the system for the crisis, and thus relieve, in great part, the suffering through which the mother usually passes. The regular use of Mother's Friend will repay any mother in the comfort it affords before, and the helpful restoration to health and strength it brings about after baby comes. Mother's Friend is for sale at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

THE DAY'S NEWS IN SPORT CIRCLES

MORE RECORDS GO AT COLUMBUS MEET

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 22.—World's records were again the order of the day at the International Breeders' meeting this afternoon. Evelyn W., a Cleveland mare, broke the record for a Cleveland mare, the time being 2:02 1/4. The time was made by the fourth heat, Earl, Jr., made a race into the stretch where Evelyn joined him and in another hard dash beat the gray horse to the wire in 2:02 1/4.

It was announced that this was the fastest four-heat race ever paced, the former record having been set at 2:02 3/4 by Robert J. in 1896. It was also announced that this race was a fastest four-heat race ever paced, the average of the former record being a fraction under 2:03.

The world's records have been established thus far with three more of racing to come.

Samson sweepstakes, for pacers, 3:15, purse $1,000. Evelyn W., won 2:02 1/4. Earl, Jr., won second time 2:02 3/4. The Abba third.

Rockeys stake, 2:12 trot, 3 in 5, purse $1,000. Evelyn W., won by Benora. In first, fourth and fifth heats and 2:12. Strollers, chestnut horse by Alton, won second and third heats. W. Forrest, black gelding, third. In Admiral, the Hugenot and Dorothy Hansboro started.

Pacing 2:15 class, 3 in 5, purse $1,000. Ernest won in straight heats. Best time 2:02 1/4. Moretta second. On Time third.

WILE AND TOUCHARD DEFEAT TITF HOLDERS

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 22.—Surprises marked the second day of the National Lawn Tennis tournament today, the biggest surprise being a defeat of Fred R. Alexander and Harold H. Hackett, four times winners of the national doubles championship, by R. D. Little and G. F. Townsend of New York. The veterans did not relinquish the title without a hard struggle, one set going 28 games before they won it, their only set, Little and Touchard won 7-5, 13-15, 6-2, 4-6.

In the all-comers singles for the title of champion, William A. Arnes, the second round was completed and one match played in the third round. E. P. Tarned, brother of a national champion and winner of a recent Longwood tournament, was defeated by S. Dabney, of Boston. Little and Touchard and Tarned and Dabney, the two rounds easily.

McLoughlin, the Pacific coast expert, by default from Pell. Thomas G. and another western member of the Davis cup team, met a stubborn opponent in R. C. Sawyer, former Massachusetts champion, but won 6-3, 6-0.

"Stuffy" McInnes holds the season's record for putouts at the initial corner. He was credited with 18 in a game with St. Louis. Jack McCall led 15 of the Athletics go out by the same series.

Sailor Burke Has Better of 10-Round Battle With Papke

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Sailor Burke, Brooklyn, outboxed and battered Billy Papke of Illinois, who claims the lightweight championship, for 10 rounds, at the Twentieth Century A. C. night.

It was a disappointing mill to all one patrons of boxing who expected different showing from the westerner and the crowd hissed and booed continually after the first two rounds. Burke went to his man at every age of the fight and while he did not show any scientific work, he showed the Illinois pugilist with a heavy round of cheers as he left a ring with scarcely a mark on his body.

Both men fought poorly and Papke seemed unwilling or unable to live up to what was expected of him. Two of the newly appointed state boxing commissioners were near the ring side following the movements of the fighters.

Papke was the first to enter the ring, he was followed a minute later by Burke. Both men were over the mid-weight limit of 155 pounds. No weights were announced, but each asked to be about 155.

Among those close to the ringside was the Marquis of Queensberry, who was writing a descriptive story of the fight for newspapers. When the crowd cognized the distinguished visitor were loud cries of "speech, speech," but the marquis stood up and waved his acknowledgments.

Round 1—Burke rushed in and sent left to body and face. Burke landed a blow without a return. Papke sent a light left to the face, but did not try hard until Burke hit him in the middle of the ring.

Round 2—They rushed into a clinch, it raged in at close quarters, both giving for the body, and raged on a ropes. Burke had the better of the fighting and sent a straight left to the face. Papke was working in short punches and took a left and a right on the head. Burke's round.

Round 3—Papke rushed, but was met with a right-hand uppercut. Burke shifted and Papke slipped to his knees. Burke sent a right hand to the ear. Papke countered lightly, Burke forced the pace and landed a

BOXERS GATHERING IN NEW YORK FOR CHANCE AT BIG PURSES IN SHORT BOUIS

By E. W. SMITH.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—They expect to make a mill in real time this year. Leading boxers are not expected to get more than a mile or so from New York. The real coin is to be obtained by first-class mill fighters, who find themselves in little jeopardy for the time being at least. They cannot induce any of the stars to take a chance against each other in a long battle in San Francisco.

Tom O'Day, one of the leading promoters in a silent way in San Francisco, has received more than first-hand proof of this. Tom passed through Chicago the other day on his way home after a long stay in the seaboard metropolis on other business. When there he made many attempts to sign up some good cards, being especially anxious to get a first-class bout for Admission day, which is the real holiday on the coast. He was unable to do so although he thinks that if Jack Britton makes good out there in some four-round contest he will prove an excellent card with Fred Welsh, the English star.

"Everybody seems to be up in the air in New York," Mr. O'Day said. "The boxers, now, that they have digested that new law there, believe they are going to get all the money in and out of Wall street before the winter is over, and few of them care to get very far away from the matchmakers."

"You see, they expect to get as much for a couple or three 10-round contests as they could get for one of the real battles of 20 or more rounds on the coast, hence it looks so much easier to them that they cannot be pried away from Gotham. A funny situation, really, when only a few months ago most of them would have been willing to walk to Frisco to get a chance at one of the purses, out there."

"The battle I wanted for September 2 was a 20-round scrap between Billy Papke and Frank Klaus of Pittsburgh for the middleweight championship. But, my goodness, there was no talking to Papke at all when we got down to business, and I was ready to submit a proposition to him."

"While we were discussing it I got word that the authorities out home didn't think well of permitting Papke to box there because of his affair with Joe Thomas. Now it looks to me that that could be fixed up because I don't believe there was anything wrong with that match. It might have looked bad to a lot of people who got the wrong way, but Papke always has impressed me as being honest and clean-cut."

"But we'll have to drop it now, I guess, because Papke is clamored for the east, and I believe he will stick right there. He is getting a lot of money for boxing a rather indifferent lot of men, whereas on the coast he would have to meet the very best in his class, so it makes quite a difference. I don't know that I blame him very much at that, but it is an unfortunate thing for us. We have the permit for the September date in Frisco, and the Papke-Klaus match would have been a corker."

"Everybody tells me this Britton box is a great lad; nearly, if not quite as good as your Papke McFarland, and that he is bound to make good if we give him the chance. We will do that, and if it is in him he will be pushed to the front at once."

GIANTS TAKE THE LEAD

New York today takes the lead in the close pennant race of the National league. Hard on Chicago's heels Pittsburgh threatens, for notwithstanding a loss to Philadelphia yesterday, the Pirates are only six points behind Chicago.

It is several years since three teams ran so close in the National league at this time of the year. For the last three years one of the trio now fighting for first place has been the championship winner: Chicago four times, Pittsburgh four times and New York twice—in 1904 and 1905.

It was in 1908 that the Nationals had one of their closest races, when New York and Chicago required an extra game to decide the championship.

With so slight a margin separating the three teams now, it is a guess as to which club will win in 1911. Chicago ends its last series with New York in the east today, and crosses the river to Brooklyn, where Chicago has won but three games out of eight this year. New York continues on home grounds this week, meeting Pittsburgh.

RACES AT BUTTE

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 22.—There was a large attendance at the closing of the meeting of the Butte Jockey club that ended here today. Meadow, carrying the heavy impost of 124 pounds, easily captured the feature event, the Mooney and Murphy handicap, at a mile, beating one of the best fields brought together here this meeting. Daire, at 12 to 1, caused a surprise in the third, coming from the clouds and winning easily from the favorite, Workbox. The horsemen are all busy tonight preparing to ship to Anaconda for the 14-day meet to be held there, opening Friday, August 25.

Will Bowl in Round-Robbin

The Overland yesterday completed a schedule for a ten-day round-robin bowling tourney, to start September 1. Ten two-man teams have entered the contest, and 30 games in all will be rolled. Prizes will be awarded the three leading teams by the Overland management, and additional prizes, it is understood, will be hung up for special scoring features.

Teams have been paired as follows: McClure and Douglas; Davies and Harrison; Austin and Reynolds; Huber and Buzbe; Steele and Warrington; Gwillim and Wright; Stanley and Gamble; McDonald and Bernard; Conway and Denham; Allen and Middle.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—By winning from Chicago in an exciting, uphill game on balls-off today, the Athletics in the National league race, Anna was easy for Chicago, but Crandall, who relieved him in the fifth, held the visitors at his mercy. Both teams fielded brilliantly.

NEW RECORDS HUNG UP AT CAMP PERRY SHOOT

CAMP PERRY, O., Aug. 22.—The matches of the National Rifle association closed tonight after a day of record breaking in the Harrick trophy match and a closely contested race in the president's match.

The Ohio team won the Harrick trophy with the score of 1,182, which breaks the world's record for long-range rifle shooting with any rifle and ammunition on the 600, 800 and 1,000-yard ranges. The score exceeds the record score of the All-American team in the Palma match in 1907 by 20 points, and is greater than the record in the celebrated English-Elcho-Shield match, which is shot under similar conditions.

The first team of the navy finished second, two teams of the marine corps third and fourth and the army infantry fifth. The other winners were Ohio's second team, the United States cavalry and the second team of the navy.

The match was finished today at 1,000 yards in the face of an approaching storm, which prevented some of the teams from accustomed to the range from securing better.

The aggregate revolver match was won by Dr. J. H. Shook of Columbus, O., with an aggregate for the shoot of 3,550. Other winners were C. L. Orr, 3,425, and Leroy Lyons, Colorado cavalry, 3,590.

The President's match was won by Corporal A. A. Lloyd of the United States marines with a score of 281. The match was won last year by Sergeant W. A. Bragner of the marines with a score of 285.

RECENT ACCIDENTS, TRADES AND TEAM MORALE AFFECT NATIONAL PENNANT CHASE

By J. C. ISAMINGER.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22.—Accidents, trades and internal trouble are going to put a big damper in the National league pennant fight. The last half of the season dawned with several championship combatants grievously weakened by the loss of star players and other aspiring teams braced by deals with weak teams. One team recently had to suspend two of its best infielders, a procedure that hurts the morale of a club.

No one of the teams in the pennant fight was visited with any greater misfortune than the Phils. Early in the season they lost Titus, when the mite fight fielder was playing the best game of his career.

An accident didn't cost the team the services of Magee for 56 days. It was Magee's own fault, yet the result was the same, for in the 35 games that Magee was away the Phils gradually slipped below the active pennant contenders.

The worst loss of all was the maiming of Manager Doolin in St. Louis on July 26. The Phils lost in the red-headed fielder not only one of its most valuable players, but its leader, thinker and pacemaker as well. When Doolin was carried off the field, the best the

The Overland yesterday completed a schedule for a ten-day round-robin bowling tourney, to start September 1. Ten two-man teams have entered the contest, and 30 games in all will be rolled. Prizes will be awarded the three leading teams by the Overland management, and additional prizes, it is understood, will be hung up for special scoring features.

Teams have been paired as follows: McClure and Douglas; Davies and Harrison; Austin and Reynolds; Huber and Buzbe; Steele and Warrington; Gwillim and Wright; Stanley and Gamble; McDonald and Bernard; Conway and Denham; Allen and Middle.

BUSH AND THE MO. PACIFIC

WHEN it was announced last spring that George Gould had regained control of the Missouri Pacific, long after the belief had become general that he had completely lost it, there was evident regret in every section traversed by that line. The public learned a long time ago that Gould control is fatal to railroad efficiency. It was so in the days of Jay Gould, when he used the Erie Railroad as a means of rigging the stock market and thereby accumulating a colossal fortune; and it has been so in the regime of his son and successor, E. H. Harriman never given credit for extreme conscientiousness in his railroad deals, but at least he was shrewd enough to realize the importance of efficiency in railroad management, and this is true of James J. Hill, J. P. Morgan and other giants of the transportation world. But Gould-railway control is always associated in the popular mind with stock jobbing designed only to line the pockets of the men at the top, while the system suffers physically from neglect and bad management.

The Missouri Pacific is one of the important railway systems of the West. It is perhaps the longest link in a series all under Gould control which now span the continent, beginning with the Wabash and including the Denver & Rio Grande and the newly completed Western Pacific. There is no reason, except mismanagement, for its not having its full share of transcontinental business, but in fact the Missouri Pacific is a mere joke to the traveling public, and has not for many years been a serious rival of the Rock Island, the Santa Fe and other competing lines.

This is why the announcement that the Gould family had succeeded in regaining control of the Missouri Pacific was received with general disapproval last spring, a feeling which was not altogether allayed by the simultaneous announcement that George Gould would not be active in its management, but that its affairs would be altogether under the direction of the new president, Mr. B. F. Bush. Mr. Bush had previously made an excellent record in rehabilitating the Western Maryland Railroad, a much smaller property than the Missouri Pacific, but one which had also been permitted to run down at the heels.

However, there are indications now that the new management of the Missouri Pacific means business. President Bush has spent three months making a complete personal inspection of the entire system. It is understood that the road has abundant financial backing, and Mr. Bush declares that not less than $20,000,000 will be spent in the near future to put it on a first-class operating basis. In short, the new management expects to do for the Missouri Pacific what Harriman did ten years ago for the Union Pacific.

This is interesting and important news for Western people, but it would be even more refreshing to learn that the same powers, which also control the Denver & Rio Grande, contemplate spending some money on that system. This is the largest and most important railroad in Colorado, and the volume of traffic handled is so great as to demand the best and most modern equipment, yet the D. & R. G. has suffered the fate of the other Gould lines. The recent report of the State Railway Commission notes that during the year ended June 30, last, no fewer than 312 persons were killed or injured on the company's lines, while in the preceding twelve months the number was 344. This is an average of almost one a day, a fearful price to pay for the niggardly policy which refuses to spend money for safety devices and for modern roadbed and rolling stock.

DANGERS OF MOUNTAIN CLIMBING

THE death near the summit of Pikes Peak yesterday, from cold and exposure, of a man and wife, is a sad warning to the many people who risk their lives in mountain climbing under adverse conditions. Fortunately in this vicinity fatalities are extremely rare, owing, perhaps, to the readiness with which aid can be procured by the Cog Road. But during the tourist season scarcely a week passes without its narrow escapes. Every day people who are physically unfit to endure the severe strain, attempt to walk up Pikes Peak. Most of them follow the Cog Road and, if overcome by exhaustion, are therefore able, after a rest, to make the return journey safely on a train.

It is noteworthy that even among the strong, healthy people who make the climb safely, very few ever care to repeat the experience, for it loses its fascination after the actual test has shown what a terrific strain it imposes on heart, lungs and muscles. If this is true of the physically strong, no argument is necessary to show the consummate folly of the attempts to climb Pikes Peak made every day by people of weak physique or impaired health.

Another condition which makes the climbing of the Peak dangerous for tyros is the uncertainty of the weather. It may be warm and clear at the base of the mountain, when almost without warning a severe storm will arise near the summit. A sudden drop in temperature, accompanied by rain, at the lower elevation, generally means, at this season, snow and wind in the higher altitudes. Under such weather conditions even a strong man, unaccustomed to mountain climbing and the sudden changes in temperature, is liable to find himself suddenly deprived of strength, nor is it hard to understand how, under such circumstances death may result.

In the present case it is likely that the unfortunate victims who lost their lives more from exhaustion and exposure than from the actual cold. The temperature at the top of the Peak in the midst of the snowstorm which prevailed there yesterday certainly was no lower than on an ordinary winter's day, here or elsewhere. But the quick change from summer heat to cold only a few degrees below the freezing point produces a shock, the effect of which, with the incidental exposure and exhaustion, might easily be fatal, and this is probably the true explanation of this sad occurrence.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN QUARANTINE

From the New York Times.
Mr. Doty does not seek to conceal the danger that exists in the spread of cholera by means of "carriers," that is, infected persons who display no symptoms of the disease. Recent inquiry, he says, has shown that the number of such carriers is "amazingly large," and that, because of their untrammelled movements, sporadic cases of cholera have occurred in all parts of the world, including the United States, to which the great shipments of immigrants from the infected Mediterranean countries are coming. But three agencies are working to make a recurrence of the epidemic anywhere in the United States impossible. In the first place our quarantine regulations of passengers on steamships were never so rigorous and stringently enforced as now. Secondly, each considerable city has its vigilant health department, which is itself a quarantine station against all manner of communicable diseases, cooperating with the health boards of other cities. Thirdly, every intelligent person is informed through the public prints that cholera is a fifth disease, which can be contracted only by the ingestion of contaminated food or drink.

THIRTY-FIVE STANDARD OIL COMPANIES.

From Harper's Weekly.
The papers report that the Standard Oil company, obeying to the best of its ability the recent decision of the supreme court, is being split up into 35 companies. Each holder of a certificate for one share of Standard Oil stock is to receive 35 certificates for stock in various companies in place of the one Standard Oil certificate. It is estimated that 125 companies since it is included that many, but it is advised that if split up into 35 it will probably be legal.

Of course these changes involve a huge amount of work. Of course, too, they are exceedingly wasteful. They may send up the price of oil and the other petroleum products. That is a sad reflection, but the fight against the monopolistic corporations is not immediately a fight for cheaper commodities, but for restriction of power. Competition is still, we suppose, the life of trade, and the great incentive to cheapening of all processes of manufacture, but it is an expensive stimulant, when artificially induced. To split up such an organization as the Standard Oil company seems like pulling apart a great machine and compelling its various parts to do their work separately.

When morals and economics conflict and morals win, it is excusable for the philosopher to scratch his head and wonder how he is going to get on.

That is what the philosophers are doing abundantly at the present time. They will have a chance to see, for it is evident that the big concerns intend to do their best to do business legally. But morals and economics belong together, and in the end must get together. Efficiency is moral; waste is immoral.

THACKERAY.

From Harper's Weekly.
Thackeray is, in spirit, a very modern writer, and the much-raved world of our day is things much more to him than the world of the old time. He saw down into the foundations of life. He knew religion and was always preaching it. He knew this world and the people who live in it; knew values and what is worth the getting and what is not—a very great man, a great preacher, a great master of the literary art, a great depository of talent.

Nobody forgets that Kipling was born in India. He lived there long enough to impress the fact on the minds of all his readers. But it is less noticed that Thackeray was born there too. It is as though these two greatly gifted British men started life in a hotbed. Thackeray was very early transported, and never went back to India, and of course never knew the country except by hearsay and never put it into his books except through its representatives in England.

He was an old-fashioned man of the highest Victorian standards, who shouldered heavy burdens of life and struggled on with them, and died at 62, worn out, but with every obligation met, and a great character made and a great treasure added to English literature in the making of these clever and popular writers have succeeded him in England in our day, who seem to have no difficulties and to think life is best lived when obligations are shirked and burdens avoided. They are interesting writers, some of them, but their virtue is transitory. Not to them will their successors turn for inspiration, nor lovers of them by the hundred thousand take new thought of them when their hundredth birthday comes around.

It happened once upon a day, a wicked man was sent to jail, he trod the hard transgressor's way, and swiped a good fat roll of kale. They put him in a cozy cell, with books to cheer his solitude, they washed him and they fed him well, and IN JAIL he grew fat on prison food. He had no AND OUT troubles on his mind, he worry over the bills to pay; removed from life's sad, heady grind, he beamed with smiles the livelong day. And in a dreary, dismal shack, his wife was willing at the fun, with aching heart and aching back, to busy her wretched children grub. And after at the close of day, she went to bed, to moan and sigh, and wonder, in her feeble way, if food was really on his side. This is the justice that obtains in this fool world through which we reel; we give the sinner stolen chains, and break his children on the wheel. We put the convict in his cell, and place light burdens on his back, and give him books and food him well, and stretch his wife upon the rack.

"It reminded me," said the lady who always knows somehow, "of something a maid I had when I was first married said to me."
The lady who always knows somehow had been in to call on a neighbor of ours who had just come back from a long visit. She had been telling us how enthusiastic this woman's daughter was at her return, and how she could not seem to do enough for her mother. "This was a new character for the daughter," she said, "she has the reputation of being a devoted selfish girl who lets her mother wait on her by inches and regards her with rudeness and impatience."

We expressed our interest as to what the girls' spasm of exuberant appreciation reminded the lady who always knows somehow of, and the lady went on:

"It was one time when I was housecleaning. I wanted to get everything clean together for once, and I'd been working hard enough to kill myself and I just gave up and had to go to bed. I had a jolly little Irish girl, just over, for a maid, and when she brought me up my tea that night she said, 'Sure, a gint, I think ye'll have to be after doing your cleaning more like the robins feed their young.'"

"And how is that?" I said.
"A little at a time and oftener," she explained.
"A little at a time and oftener."

How many things that would simplify besides housecleaning.

How often we try to pay debts of kindness or gratitude in a lump—at Christmas-time, perhaps—when the payment could so much better be made as the robins feed their young."

How often we try to make up for months of some neglected duty in a day or two, when the only real way to atone is "as the robins feed their young."

How often we try to acquire accomplishments or qualities of character by a spasm of intense and prolonged effort, whereas the only real way to acquire most things worth acquiring is by efforts made "as the robins feed their young."

The world's conditions have many lessons for us. Animal and vegetable life have many wise words to say to us of serenity, of patience, and of self-control if we will but listen.

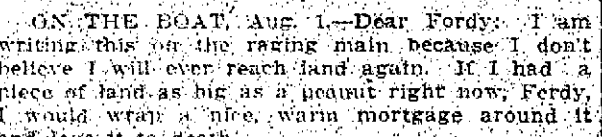

But few, I think, are wiser than the robin's lesson as translated by the little Irish girl.

Grant us in this impatient life to still remember that there are many many things which can best be done "as the robins feed their young, a little at a time and oftener."

Freddy Funnel's Letters

BY MILES OVERHOLT

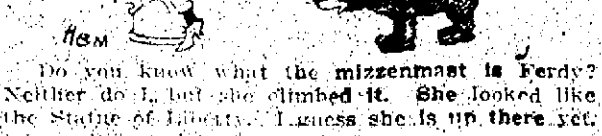

ON THE BOAT, AUG. 1.—Dear Freddy: I am writing this on the racing machine because I don't believe I will ever reach land again. If I had a piece of land as big as a peanut right now, Freddy, I would want a nice, warm mortgage around it, and love it to death.

Did you ever hear that little hymn entitled "Lift Up Your Voice"? I'm trying to tell you Freddy, that I lifted up mine. I've tried everything, but my purple-striped beard. Next time I take a trip on the ocean that is not broke to ride I shall eat a switch.

There was a man and a woman. I sat next to an old maid at dinner time and I think she is what caused the sea sickness. She looks like a necktie that had been left in the wind until late in the spring.

There was a guy who got on at Frisco with a pot-bear which he was taking home to his niece in Hongkong, and it afforded us a great deal of amusement that didn't cost a cent. You see, it was in a cage with a little old door at one side that wouldn't hold anything if it was a seahorse as I was.

Anyway, I got the old maid to stand in front of the cage and look at a sunset or a moonrise or something and then I opened the door. Then the bear jumped out and growled, and the old maid, Freddy—the old maid fled. She not only fled, but she flew.

Do you know what the missemmat is Freddy? Neither do I, but she climbed it. She looked like the Statue of Liberty. I guess she is up there yet. I haven't seen her since, anyway.

A man ought to have a good bear with him all the time, Freddy, if he wants to have all the fun there is in life.

This morning I fed the said bear a little cayenne pepper on a piece of meat and he tore down the cage and scratched his claws on the deck in time different styles of pawing before the crew could get a rope on him.

I got to eat of at Hongkong, Freddy. The captain says he will pay all expenses. He says he forgot to renew his life insurance before he left home, and he will feel safer if I'm not present. FREDDY.

The Short Ballot A Progressive Ideal

A Series of Talks on the New Direction of Political Reform Which Now Proposes to Simplify and Popularize Politics.

By RICHARD S. CHILDS.

VIII.—What a Short Ballot City Would Be Like.

It is easy to find short ballot cities, because every city in the world outside of the United States has a short ballot. The English cities, for example, are governed by the council, which in turn appoints all other city employees and directs administrative details through its committees. The members of the council are elected three from each ward for three years. As the terms expire in rotation the British voter on election day finds an official ballot about the size of a postal card which contains the names of two or three candidates nominated by petition, and from these candidates the voter has the simple task of choosing just one. The British cannot claim that they are more loyal to their political interests than our citizens are because they vote so intelligently. It would be hard put to vote intelligently in a British city. The latest, latest, indifferent voter is a complete politician. He needs no party label on the ballot, no party machine to prepare a ticket for him, and the phenomenon of bossism is unknown. In Germany the system is much the same. The council is the only elective body, and it runs the town with complete power to get results. In the case of the German city the council exercises power through a hired mayor, usually a man who is hired from some smaller city on account of successful administration there. The German mayor corresponds to the general manager under the board of directors in a private corporation.

In other European countries, in New Zealand, Australia and other British colonies, except parts of Canada, the system is substantially the same. The people elect the city council only on short ballots.

In this country we have in the commission plan the first American plan of city government which seems inclined to be sensitive to the popular wish. Starting in Galveston in 1901 as an emergency measure following the flood, it has spread through Texas, and now it is permitted in 20 states, including such large ones as Oakland, Cal., Tacoma, Wash., Birmingham, Ala., Memphis, Tenn., and Houston, Tex.

This commission plan unifies all the powers of the city in the council or commission of five members. These five men are conspicuous targets for public criticism. Everybody in town knows their responsibility for existing conditions. The absence of the ancient and antiquated checks and balances prevents the evasion of responsibility, and so we find these men, who often have been typical politicians under the old regime, bowing anxiously to public opinion, explaining eagerly everything they do and trying their best to keep the people satisfied with and proud of their city government.

The commission plan has been criticised because of the great powers that are given to the commission, but no one complains because as much power as does the mayor in the typical American city. It is really less concentrated rather than more so. It is, on the other hand, more unified. The single board does everything.

If the plan was applied in a very large city it would undoubtedly be considered desirable to enlarge the council or commission so that it would not lose the capacity to represent the varied elements of our cosmopolitan cities. If all the council were elected at large, however, at one time the ballots would become long and we would witness the reappearance of ticket makers (politicians). Accordingly it would be necessary to elect the enlarged commission in rotation so that there would be a text to be chosen each time. In a very large city, such as New York or Chicago, it would probably be necessary to carry the subdivision further and elect the council by wards.

The short ballot city, then, should preferably have its powers unified in one body, but if it is not a small body the election schedules must be so arranged as to preserve the essential short ballot feature.

Seven Famous Retreats

History has always attached much importance to the Number Seven. "Of all numbers there is one which commanded, in a higher degree, the esteem and reverence of mankind." The Gazette has taken this charming number, and has woven into stories on a variety of subjects a Series of Sevens, beginning each Monday and continuing during the week.

No. 3. NAPOLEON FROM MOSCOW

The beginning of the end of the great Napoleon was his invasion of Russia in 1812. For several years the French general and the emperor of Russia had been on amicable terms. This amity at length cooled, and at last was wholly ruptured. In 1812 Napoleon assembled a great army in Poland and invaded Russia and having, at Borodino and on the Moskwa, gained bloody victories, he entered Moscow on the 14th of September.

The commission plan unifies all the powers of the city in the council or commission of five members. These five men are conspicuous targets for public criticism. 120 miles of Colorado's most picturesque mountain scenery thru Ute Pass and the beautiful summer resort towns of Cascade, Green, Mt. Falls, Woodland Park, over Hayden Divide, altitude 9,198 ft.; thru Granite Canon, and its 11 miles of solid granite walls towering 1,000 feet above the track, and into the South Park, where an excellent view of Mt. Massive, highest in Colorado, and the Collegiate Range, Mts. Yale, Princeton and Harvard, with their perpetual snows, may be had.

Florissant Fossil Fields

An eminent English scientist who recently visited this field says it is the greatest fossil deposit in the world. An excellent opportunity is given patrons on the Wildflower Excursion to visit this wonderful laboratory of nature and to gather specimens of plant and animal life of some 3,000,000 years ago. The railway has uncovered a very large deposit which our patrons are permitted to gather free of cost.

Wildflowers

Columbines, Shooting Stars, India Pinks, Forget-Me-Nots, Honey-suckles, Asters, Bluebells and many other varieties are out in profusion. Stop of 45 minutes is made in the Wildflower Fields to gather bouquets.

MORE LIBERAL ELECTIVE COURSE AT HIGH SCHOOL

Pupils at the Colorado Springs High school this year will be permitted to select the subjects which they think will prove of the most benefit to them in the professions they are to follow, providing they pick enough studies to meet the minimum requirements of the course. This is an announcement made by the board of education.

Miss Gertrude Wiley, graduate of Ohio Wesleyan university, will succeed F. K. Pratt as instructor in the department of mathematics. Mr. Pratt has been shifted to the department of physics. J. M. Kelso, has been changed from the department of physics to the department of chemistry.

LOREN IN "ON PAROLE"

"On Parole," a war drama by Louis Evan Shipman, will be the offering of the Loren company at the Opera house this afternoon, tonight and tomorrow night. Theodore Loren plays the role of a soldier in the northern army and Cecil Fay appears as a southern girl who uses her powers to aid her state. The combination is a strong one for in these parts, both Mr. Loren and Miss Fay are at their best.

Audiences like Mr. Loren in war plays and in western dramas. Dressed in a soldier's uniform, Mr. Loren presents to the popular mind the personification of what a soldier should be. As a cowboy, his patrons think him unsurpassed. His greatest successes have been in such plays as "The Lieutenant and the Cowboy," "Secret Service," "Arizona," and "On Parole."

Cecil Fay's following in Colorado Springs is the most faithful an actress could desire. She has completely won everybody by her unique personality, her delightful simplicity and her fascinating manners. In "On Parole" she has a role which gives full play to all her powers.

"On Parole" tells of a southern girl who to aid her state, in the Civil war, carries dispatches. On one of her errands she comes face to face with a northern soldier, but by her cleverness, outwits him. Later, under another name she meets him, and again she is able to confuse him and keep him guessing.

"The Sign of the Four," a Sherlock Holmes drama, will be revived for three performances, Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee.

"THE WHITE RED MAN"

A CLASSIC PHOTOPLAY

Just now when motion picture plays are being written and produced by the hundreds every week, it is hardly to be expected that the general run of these productions would be of above ordinary mediocrity, nor are they. That is to say, the art of motion picture writing and production is still too young for any really great and lasting work to be produced, anything that might be called a classic. However, there are frequent photo plays produced which show what achievements are yet to come—plays in which the spark of literary, dramatic and mechanical genius flashes, and among such none is more notable than the latest Rex production, "The White Red Man."

Here is a photoplay in which the creative genius of a real writer, the dramatic skill of a fine company of artists and the scenic setting and mechanical effects that mark the highest advance of the motion picture art are combined to produce a film that stands out above the great run of films just as Pikes Peak looms above the adjoining mountains.

The hero is an Indian—a red man with a white heart, hence the name. The first scene is a thrilling stage holdup, and the Indian appears after the wounded bandit has caved his booty in a creek bed. The Indian finds it and later after a woodman's wife has nursed his foot, crushed in a bear trap, gives her and her little child the pearls and money he had found. The sheriff finds the loot, arrests the man for the holdup and the innocent woodman is convicted and sentenced to hang. The Indian hears of it, and after a run of miles, in which he makes a terrible leap from an 80-foot cliff, arrives just in time and tells his story. He takes the officers to the creek bed and in the bushes they find the dead body of the bandit, which brings the drama to a happy conclusion.

This interesting drama is proving one of the most enjoyable and popular features of the all-feature bill at the Majestic this week, the program of which includes Lew Harkins, the premier black face comedian; Barnard's Manikins in a comical novelty; Pearl Young, the clever soprano and pianist; Paul Case & Co. in the comedy sketch, "Fresh from College," and the concert orchestra program. All for 10, 20 and 30 cents. Performance at 2:30, 7:30 and 9:10 p. m.

FOR ITCHING SCALPS

DANDRUFF AND DRY, THIN, FALLING HAIR

Cuticura Soap and Ointment Afford a Speedy, Economical and Agreeable Treatment.

To allay itching and irritation of the scalp, prevent dry, thin and falling hair, remove crusts, scales and dandruff, and promote the growth and beauty of the hair of women, the following special treatment has been found most effective. On retiring, comb the hair out straight all around, then begin at the side and make a parting, gently rubbing Cuticura ointment into the parting with a bit of soft flannel held over the end of the finger. Anoint additional partings about half an inch apart until the whole scalp has been treated, the purpose being to get the ointment on the scalp skin rather than on the hair.

The next morning, shampoo with Cuticura soap and hot water. Shampoo alone may be used as often as agreeable, but for women's hair once or twice a month is generally sufficient for this special treatment. Men may apply Cuticura ointment as they would a pomade or in any other convenient way, preferably at night, as often as necessary to keep the scalp clean and the hair from falling, but use shampoo lightly with Cuticura soap every morning, when making the toilet.

Notwithstanding that Cuticura soap and ointment are sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world, those wishing to try this treatment may do so without expense by sending to "Cuticura," Dept. U, Boston, for a free sample of each, with a book on the care and treatment of skin and hair.

It is well to place a light covering over the hair to protect the pillow from stain.

same old Buffalo Bill, the greatest Indian fighter the world has ever known. Old things that had been shown in the days gone by were not forgotten. Out bowed the battered stage coach filled with passengers. It was held up by the band of murdering redskins and rescued ultimately by the cowboys.

Mary Devlin's cowboys did a lightning drill and wall-scaling act, and showed the result of the work of the young disciplinarian.

Termed the newest form of equestrian sport, a football eight feet in diameter was rolled into the arena, and what those cowboys and Indians did to the ball with their horses was a sight to make an anemic person feel a rush of blood. Back and forth the big pigskin was pushed and shoved by the well-trained horses. It was palpable that the copper-colored men wanted to win on the first night, and it was also certain the cowboys were not going to give in. And the boys in the "shaps" won.

The Summit Springs fight, in which Cody killed Chief Tall Bull, was presented realistically, and the wall of a papoose was heard as the moon rose. The redskins were surprised by the soldiers, and there followed a lively mimic battle in which the Indians did not win.

The Far East constituted an array of men and women from many different nations, clad in dazzling costumes. There were fire eaters, boomerang throwers, who hurled their peculiar weapons above the heads of the audience, elephants that played music and danced, and Hindoos who did their faking tricks.

One of the most interesting sights of the evening, as usual, was the riding of bucking bronchos by the cowboys. There was Maud, the stubborn mule that would not be saddled for 10 minutes, and High Tower, one of the worst buckers in the country. The fractious brutes jumped and bucked, ran and turned, in their efforts to unseat the riders. But it takes a pretty bad horse to cheat one of Cody's cowboys out of a ride, especially on a first night of the show in the garden.

FAREWELL OF BUFFALO BILL

Two great subjects—Wild West and Far East—interpreted by 800 people, 500 horses, elephants, dromedaries, mules, camels.

When the roads meet at a parting and the time comes to say good-by, memory runs back to the earlier days, when we were young and strong, and full of hope and endeavor. Now our old friend, "Buffalo Bill," says he is on his last tour of America, preparatory to his retirement from the arena. This announcement comes suddenly and sharply, and the American people will bid farewell to Col. William F. Cody with regret. He has been a historian in giving living moving pictures, such as were never before projected, in a realistic manner, creating in that line a new era in entertainment.

For 30 years, this dauntless American pony express rider, army scout, Indian fighter, guide to the Grand Duke Alexis, chosen comrade of Sheridan, Sherman, Custer, Merritt, Crook, Miles, Carr and other United States generals of the army, has gone over the world, carrying with him his congress of Indians, cowboys, vaqueros, and cavalry of all nations—teaching history in a way never before attempted.

Impressive object lessons are invaluable. When made through the eye, they are more lasting than in any other manner, and inspire the other senses to a full grasp of the subject. Scenes thus witnessed render their review in books, reproduction in painting or revival in discussion of continuous value, they have the merit of permanency attached to the original negative, and, like the camera, "cannot lie" or exaggerate, as might a simple description, for "seeing is believing."

The distinguished feature of "The Wild West" has always been its naturalness, the absence of all pretense or artificiality. This fact won for it a reception and approval never before extended to any exposition offered to the public. There is the same adherence to this realism in the added numbers of Pawnee Bill's Far East, which is an appropriate companion presentation of people, customs and pastimes of the orient to the historic portraiture of olden days in the wild west. This the "Two Bills"—Buffalo and Pawnee—enthusiasts in their mission to instruct the masses in natural history, in horsemanship, in the knowledge of their fellow men around the world—give the people a rational entertainment that adds to the spirit of happiness and from its rugged character inculcates content.

The coming visit is the last for Colonel Cody in the saddle in our city. Then will we see in this connection for the last time, a man who has made for himself a fame seldom attained by anyone, one destined to go down to future ages with increased interest and a more lasting permanency than many who aimed at work seemingly more pretentious. Buffalo Bill, bidding us good by, is leaving a farewell which no heartiness and general regret has seldom been given any public character. All his friends and admirers wish him long life, health and happiness in the privacy of his mountain cabin home.

AIRY DINING

A cool, airy dining-room imparts a zest to your appetite; a hot, stuffy dining-room destroys it, and makes mealtime an ordeal. After the duties of a sweltering summer day it is imperative that you dine in a refreshing atmosphere.

You can do this by using a General Electric Fan. Connect it to an ordinary lighting socket, turn the switch, and you can revel in the comfort of a cool circulating breeze. And at a cost too trivial for serious consideration less than one cent an hour.

The General Electric Fan represents the highest type of manufacturing skill. We have a complete line of General Electric Fans displayed in our show rooms, or we will gladly have a representative call and demonstrate their many advantages.

Notes of Local Courts

Grace Brown proved that her husband, Harry E. Brown, was cruel to her, and was given a divorce in the county court yesterday. Brown is a Colorado Midland conductor. They were married at Cripple Creek in 1897. Mrs. Brown has the custody of her 12-year-old daughter.

Ten vagrants were arrested by the police Monday night at the Denver & Rio Grande station, in an attempt to find persons who entered a box car in the Rock Island railroad yards a few hours previous. The robbers broke the seal on the door and stole several boxes of children's sweaters. City detectives are at work on the case.

Phil Maguire, alias "Red" Maguire, yesterday was wearing an overcoat that had been stolen from Fred Wetter at the People's mission on Huerfano street. He was arrested by the police.

CRIPPLE CREEK MINES

Special to The Gazette. CRIPPLE CREEK, Aug. 22—Prospectors, not financed by the chamber of commerce of Denver, have made a discovery on "31-Mile" mountain, near the line between Park and Fremont counties, that may develop a new camp.

Samples brought into this city yesterday and tested, gave results as follows: G-1, 2.38 ounces gold, 0.40 ton, a gross valuation of $47.60 per ton. X-5, 54 gold, no test silver; $10.80 per ton.

X-8, 18 gold, no test silver; $3.60 per ton.

Thirty-one-mile mountain was covered in the Hayden survey, and later J. H. Blackworth carried claim for the "Powell survey," following and supervising the Colorado survey of 1887. Blackworth, no longer connected with the government geological department, has recently returned to this section and, fully equipped, has trailed out over the surveyed ground. Outcroppings noted at the time of the survey will be prospected, and already six claims have been staked. The records of location will be filed in three counties—Teller, Park and Fremont—to insure legality.

Blackworth reports prospectors camped in the hills in the Tarryall district and systematic prospecting of the range.

In the Tarryall mining district of Park county, northwest of Cripple Creek, Ray McLaughlin is unwavering the shaft on the copper-gold-silver dikes northwest of his ranch. Three distinct fissures have been disclosed at comparatively shallow depth, and with the shaft unwavering development may bring in a shipping mine from this section. Ranchmen have notified prospectors that, while permitting prospect work on their high-living grounds, they will require liberal distribution of holdings, demanding control.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 22—Today's operations on the stock exchange opened with a number of substantial recessions in which Union Pacific took its largest loss, 1 1/2 points, in its early losses the list simply followed the course of London, where all American securities, particularly the Harrimans, were under pressure.

Further details concerning the proposed refinancing of the Harriman railroads were forthcoming, all tending to show that this system, purposes carrying out its avowed policy with little delay. After the market's slump the list crawled slowly upward on heavy but moderate volume of business. By midday prices were substantially over the preceding day, but again fell away with trading at a standstill.

Weakness in Canadian Pacific, which had its origin in Berlin, was followed by a loss of almost five points here, precipitated by an incoherent movement in the latter session, which threatened to make further inroads on the entire list. The support accorded Union Pacific, however, resulted in a rally, but prices were not fully restored. Baltimore & Ohio was distinctly weak, selling off to par, a loss of 1 1/2 points. The firmness of Pennsylvania was an announcement that no refinancing is contemplated of that system.

There was more animation in the last hour with free absorption of Steel and Union Pacific. Dulness once more on a rather congested condition, and general in the trading at the close.

The day was replete with crop news, which ranged from good to indifferent. Dispatches from Oregon, Montana, Idaho and Washington point to enormous yields in these states.

Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $1,626,000.

United States government bonds were unchanged on call.

TEXAS AND PANHANDLE LANDS FOR SALE OR TRADE

We will be in Colorado Springs for a short time only, and are prepared to offer you Texas and Panhandle lands in blocks of almost any size and at absolute "Bargain Day" prices, actual values considered. The Texas Panhandle this year are making the largest crop of feedstuffs known to that locality for the past eight years. Land values are rapidly going up. Get in the game now. Let some of this land grow into money for you. To make some quick business we submit the following properties. Think and act at once and don't take our time or waste yours unless you mean business. We have no time for anything but "real business." We will either sell for cash or make a fair and equitable trade on any of the following properties:

About 4,000 acres in one block, improved, 5 miles from good town on main line of Fort Worth & Denver road; one of the very finest ranches in the Texas Panhandle; $12.50 per acre; some improvement.

2,500 acres, eastern El Paso county, Texas, 15 miles north of T. R. Ry. solid body, perfect square, rich chocolate loam, at $10 per acre.

540 acres, Carson county, Texas; about 500 acres of this A. No. 1. 116 acres of the richest sections in this county; small improvement, on easy terms. Price $20 per acre.

420 acres, 180 in cultivation, thoroughly improved, 2 houses, barn, fenced and cross-fenced; 4 1/2 miles from railroad town, 1 1/2 miles to school and church. This is a bargain at $35 per acre. Small improvement.

100 residence lots, business lots all sold 25x110 feet in the best and fastest growing towns in the Panhandle on main line North Worth & Denver road. Will price these lots either in pairs or any quantity at prices that will make you big money.

We have a short quarter section, 16 1/2 acres, near county seat of Hutchinson county, Texas. This is a smooth section, and one of the best in the county; improvement $162; price $15 per acre. We will trade our equity of $1,800 for a good automobile, diamonds, merchandise or anything actually worth $1,800. Don't let this one get away. It won't appear again.

If interested in any of the above make up your mind now. Write at once and state fully what you have in first letter.

CONCERT—Prof. A. Samuelsen of Lincoln, Neb., will give a concert at the Swedish Evangelical Free church, 317 East Boulder street, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

OFFICE TO CLOSE—The Texas Oil company will close its office this morning from 9 to 12 o'clock, during which hours the funeral of the late John W. Gates of New York, a prominent stockholder in the company, will be held in New York.

THIRD PRIZE—As a third prize in the literary contest being conducted by Miss Chloa Matignon for the best 100-word article on scenery in Colorado, a hand-painted china cup and saucer has been offered by Miss Ella A. Zimmerman of this city.

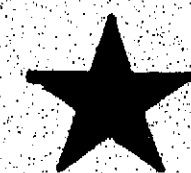

IS STILL SHOOTING

Col. Wm. F. Cody, who will positively appear in the saddle of each performance of the Wild West and Far East when it visits this city, will give displays of his unerring marksmanship. Another sharpshooter with the big exhibition will be Johnny Baker, a marksman of remarkable skill. His transshipping, executed in the most difficult position and with lightning rapidity, and his phantasmagoria of glass balls tossed into the air, comprises a noteworthy feature of the Wild West exhibition.

F. MARION CRAWFORD ESTATE IS $48,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The estate of F. Marion Crawford, the novelist, who died at Sorrento, Italy, April 9, 1909, is appraised in a report filed here today by the state comptroller. The estate is valued at $48,000 and is divided among the author's widow and his four children. Mr. Crawford owned little property in this country outside the copyrights on his numerous books.
